The Light of Life . . .

Academic Spiritual
Social
Physical

Life is to be able to adapt portions of our environment and stimulation to ourselves in order to mold and enrich our own minds. It is learning, thinking, feeling. Life is motivation and care—having a desire to help others in their search for truth, to search ourselves, and to know.

To know means to be able to see and in order to see, one must have light. One can become utterly lost, can sink to the depths of chaos, unless he recognizes the utility of the guiding light of life, the beacon that gives him faith in the reality of today, in the hope of tomorrow. This flickering flame discloses the path to knowledge, to friendship, to an active meaningful fullness of being.

Resting upon the pinnacle of the highest landmark on campus is the lamp of knowledge—the lamp whose ever glowing flame reveals the seemingly hidden path to wisdom and guides the searching student along the craggy, uneven path in the quest for the knowledge that the light is within all of us; for the realization that we must open our eyes to it and its responsibility, and love it.

Academic Light . . .

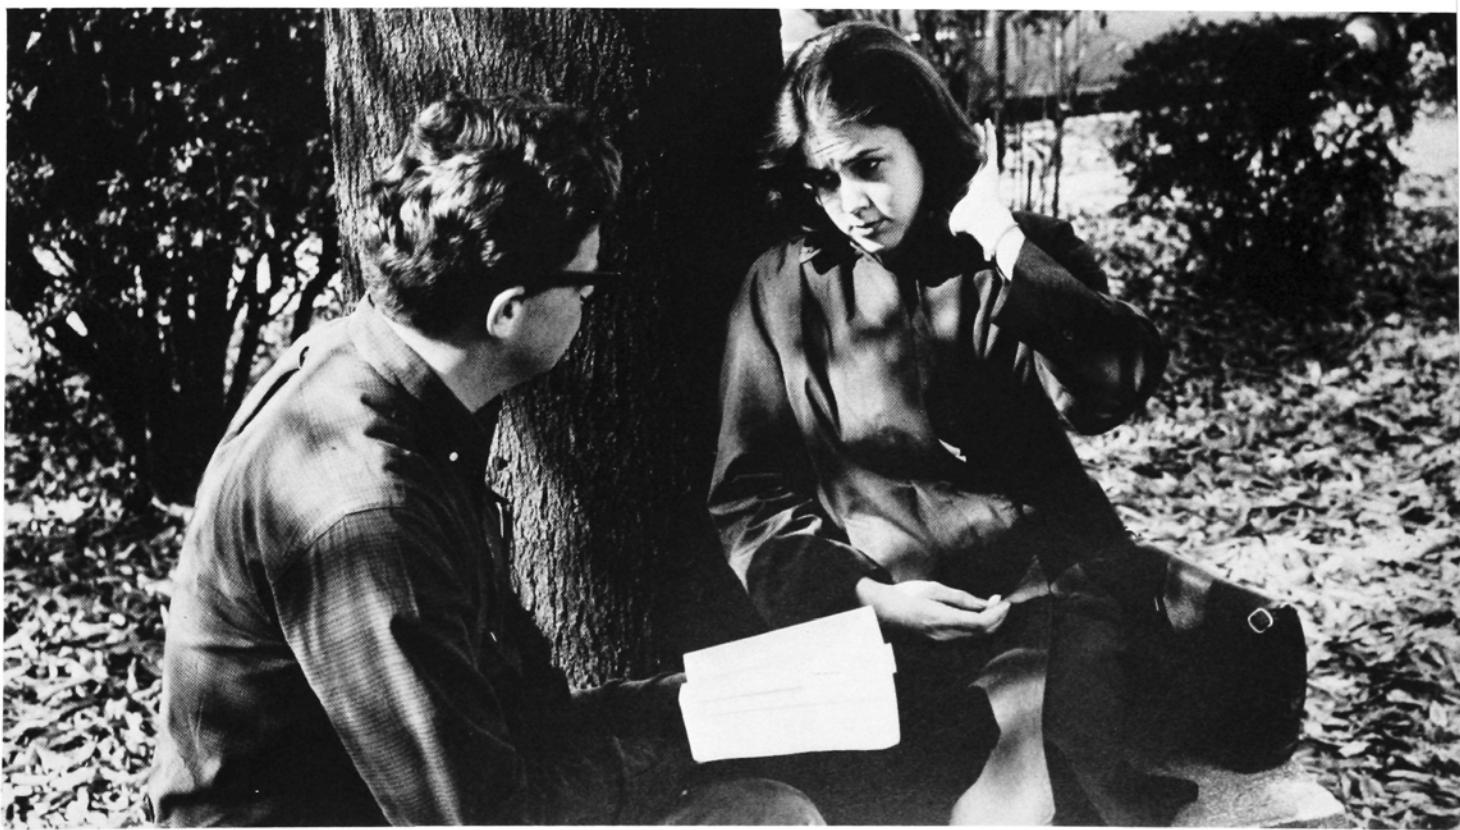

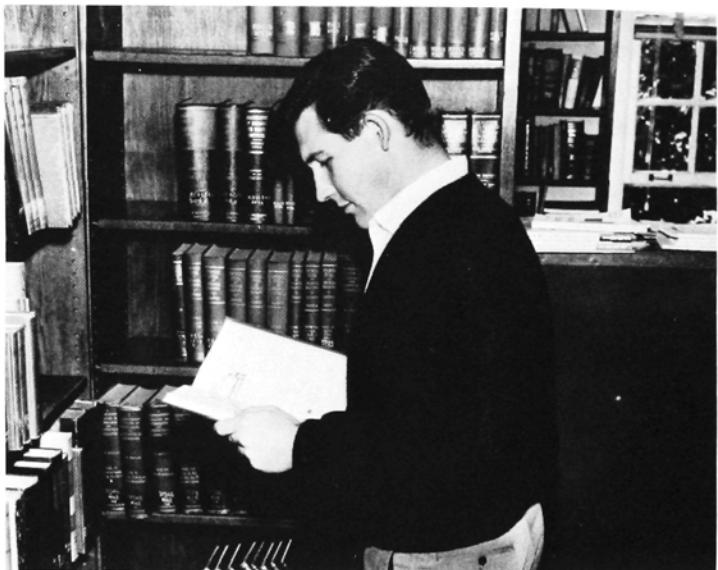

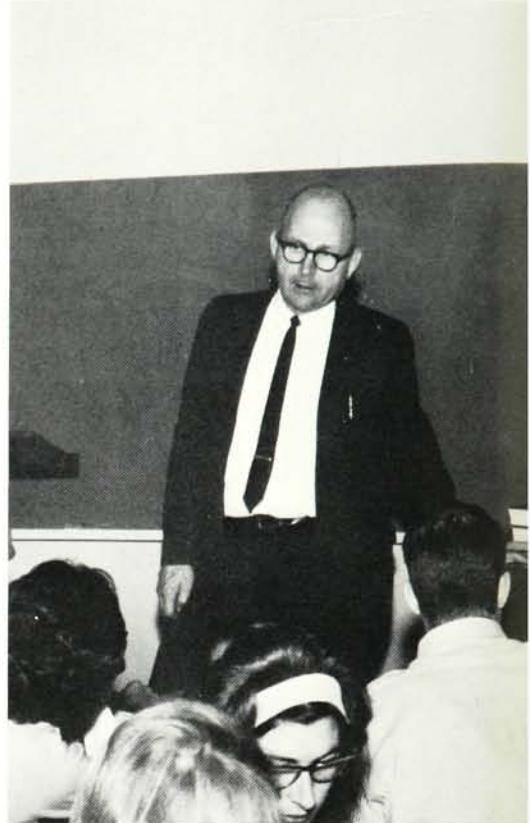

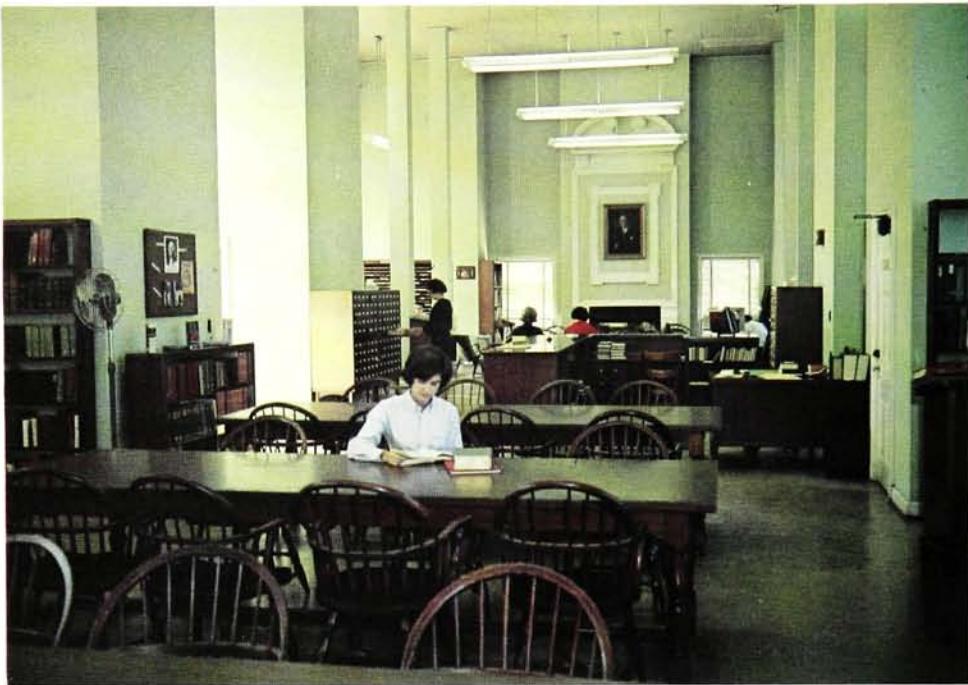

All men are architects of fate, working in a complex network of hopes, dreams, and disillusionments. When one seeks truth, much of that which lies half asleep in the dawning of knowledge is awakened. So it can be with each student of High Point College. Let us not fear to dream, but may we never dream foolishly. May the emphasis of our worthiest goals be placed not on reaping the rewards of our fertile efforts, but in giving the best of our talents in service to the high ideals of knowledge and understanding.

The light of knowledge is eternal if we will but keep the flame alive. It is our decision to make, for given to us is the now—to shape and develop as we will.

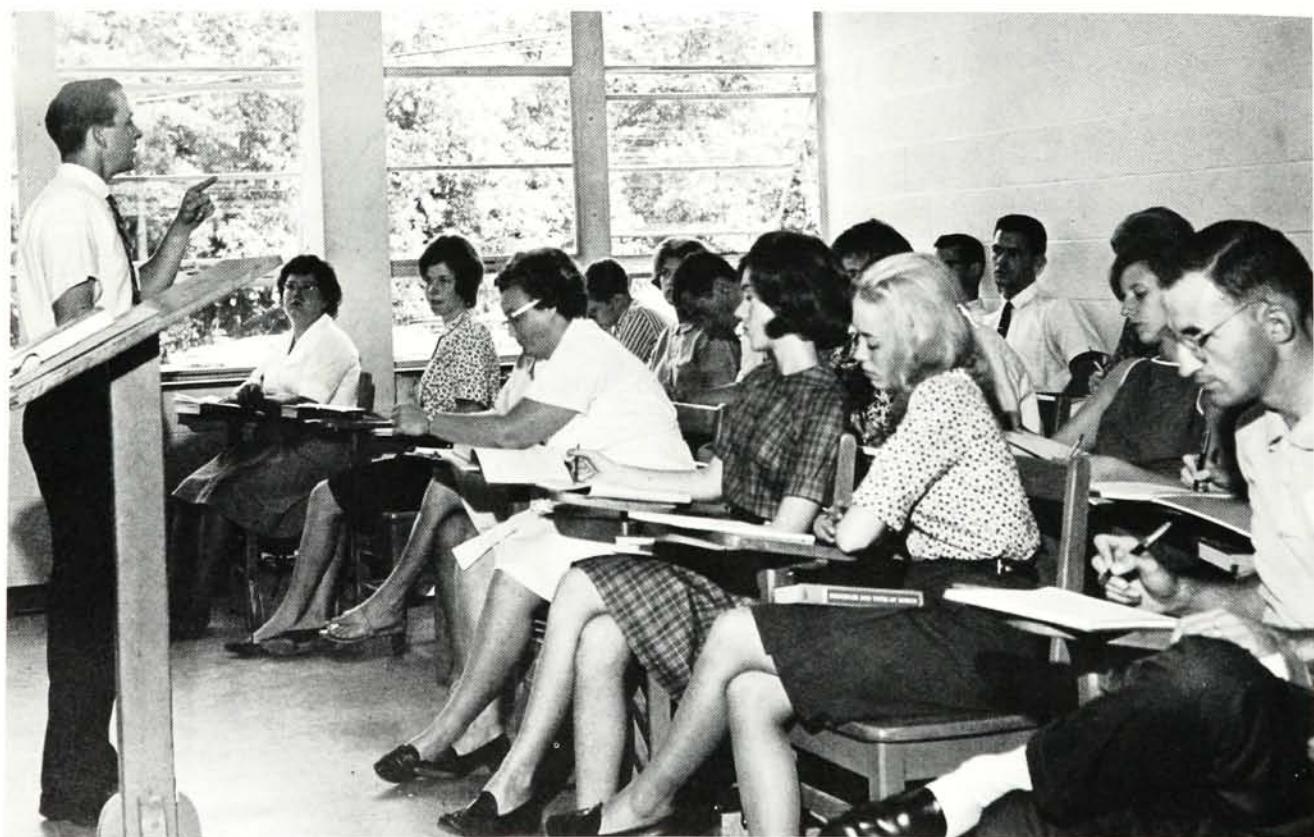

A Guiding Beacon

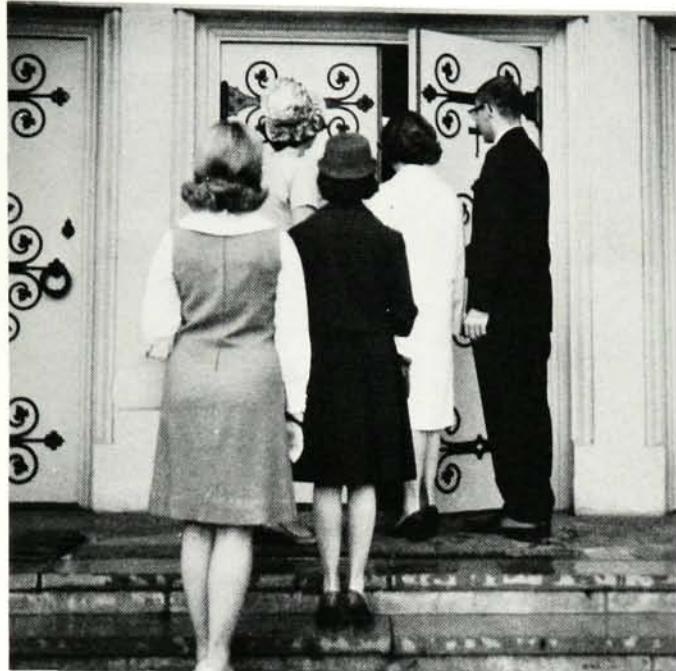

In The Quest For Truth

Spiritual Light . . .

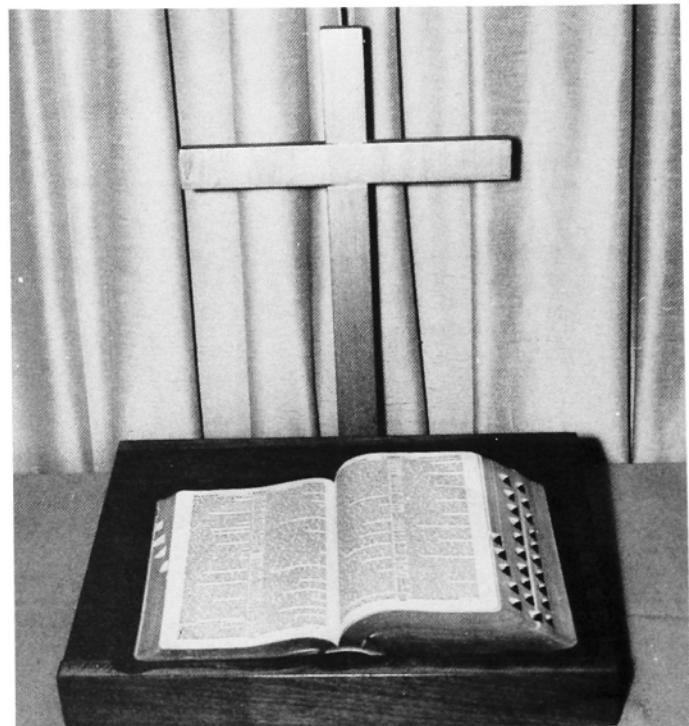

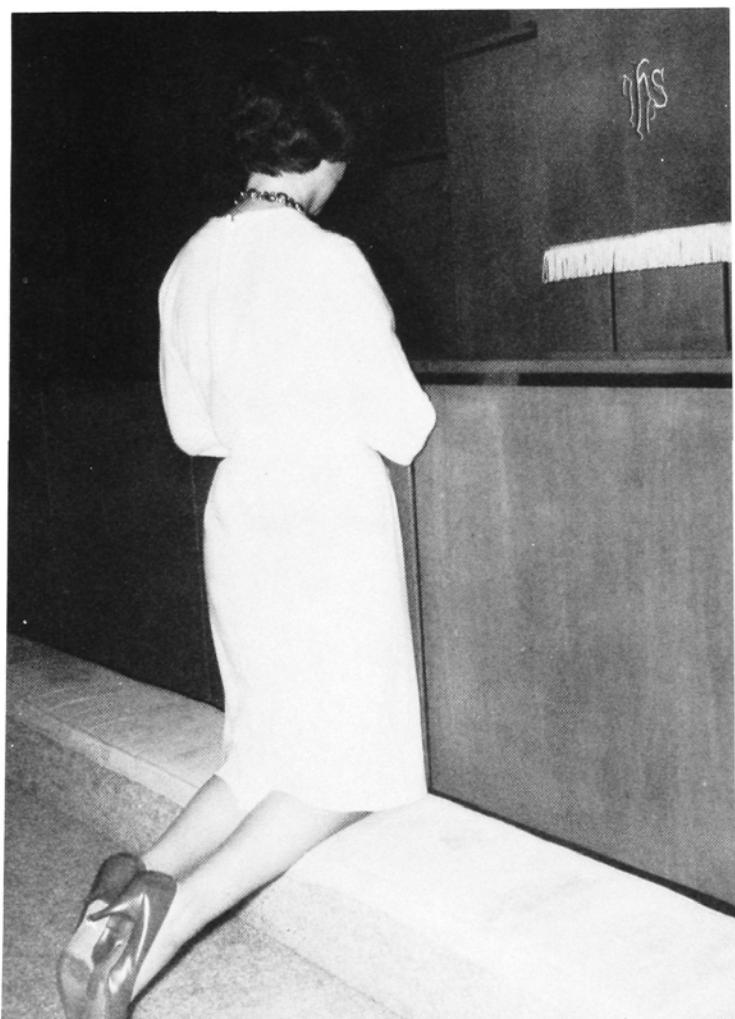

Spiritual light penetrates deeply into the very depths of our souls and kindles a flame within, which grows with the knowledge and maturity we achieve as students. We are led to a deeper understanding and knowledge of God as we become more aware of the relationship between the creator and the created. With time, the intensity of this inward flame is reflected in ideas, actions, and relationships. High Point College, through its Methodist affiliation, strives to instill this spiritual light into the life of every student. Nil Sine Numine—Nothing Without Divine Guidance.

Nothing Without Divine Guidance

Social Light . . .

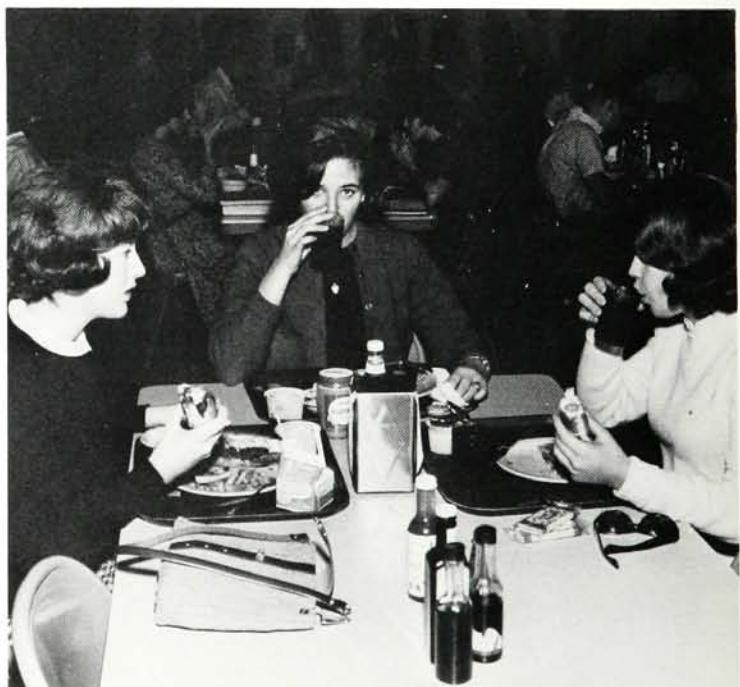

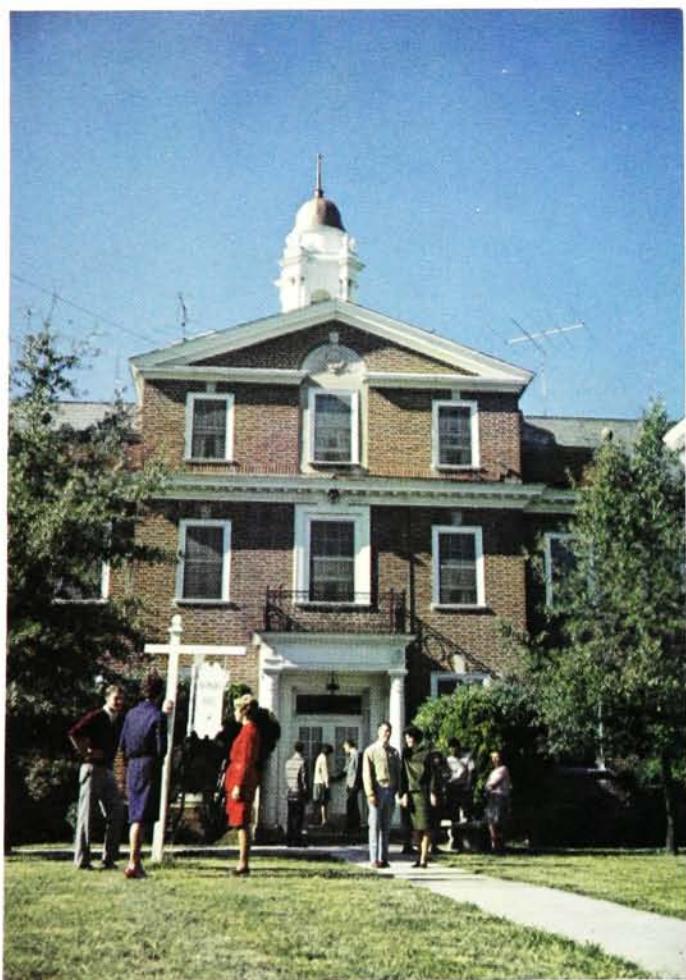

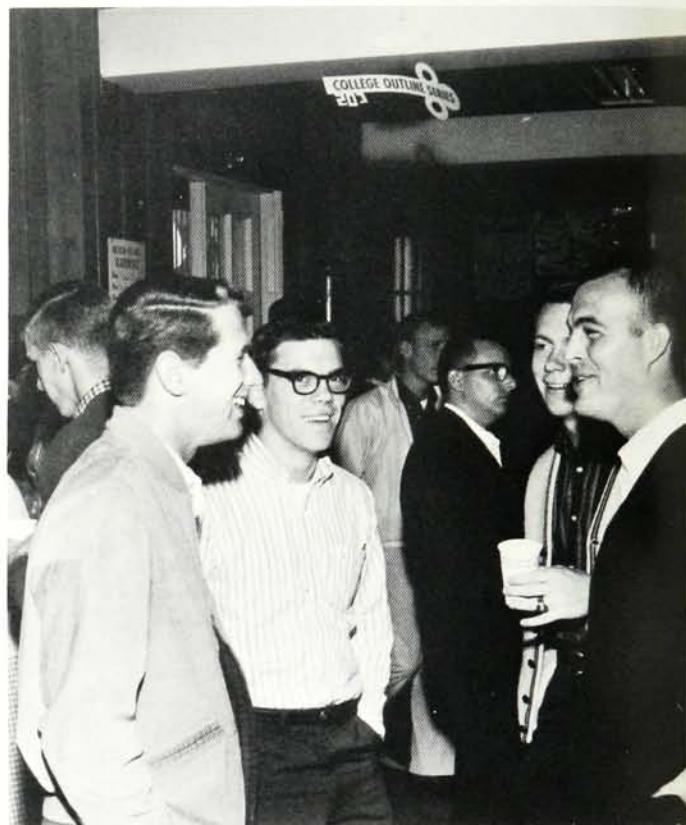

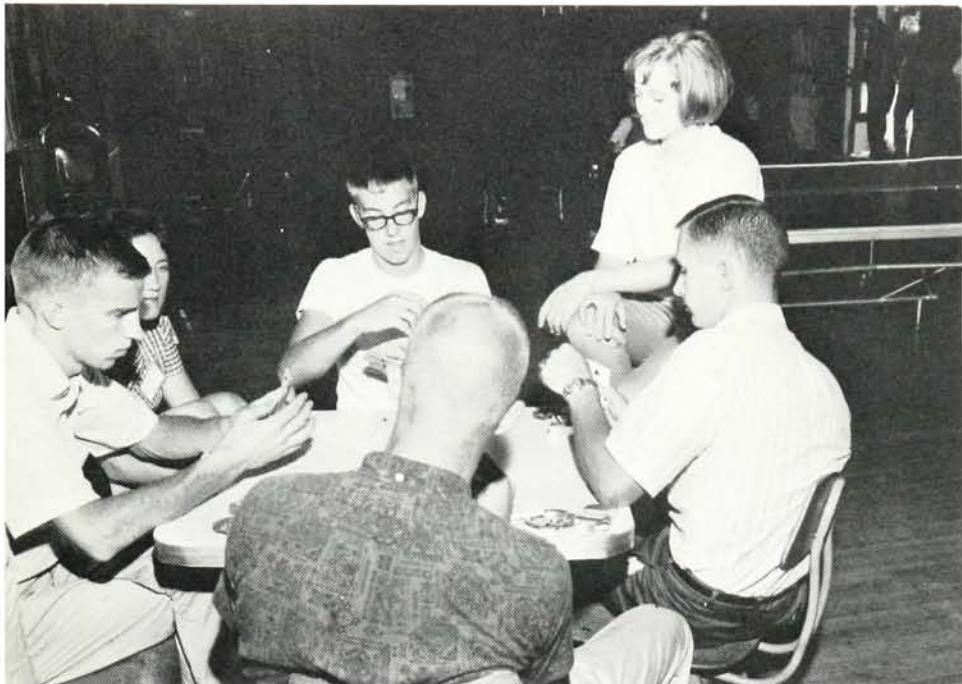

It is the belief of High Point College that the life of each student can be greatly enriched through personal participation in the various social activities found on campus. The student's social life can be as full as he desires. The numerous dances and various clubs offer the student an opportunity to acquire poise and to widen his social life.

Fraternities and sororities play an important role in the life of many young men and women. These organizations, through high ideals, uphold the policies and beliefs of the college.

The social light on the High Point College campus is a leading force in the student's quest for love, fellowship, and laughter. It reaches out in abundance to all who are willing to be enriched by it.

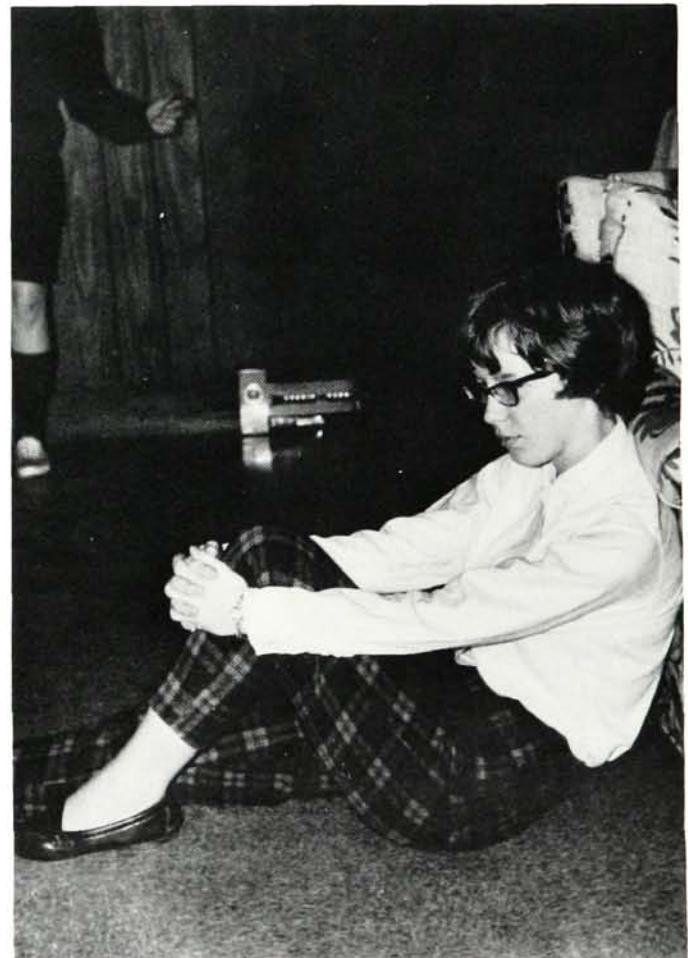

Radiated Through Fun,

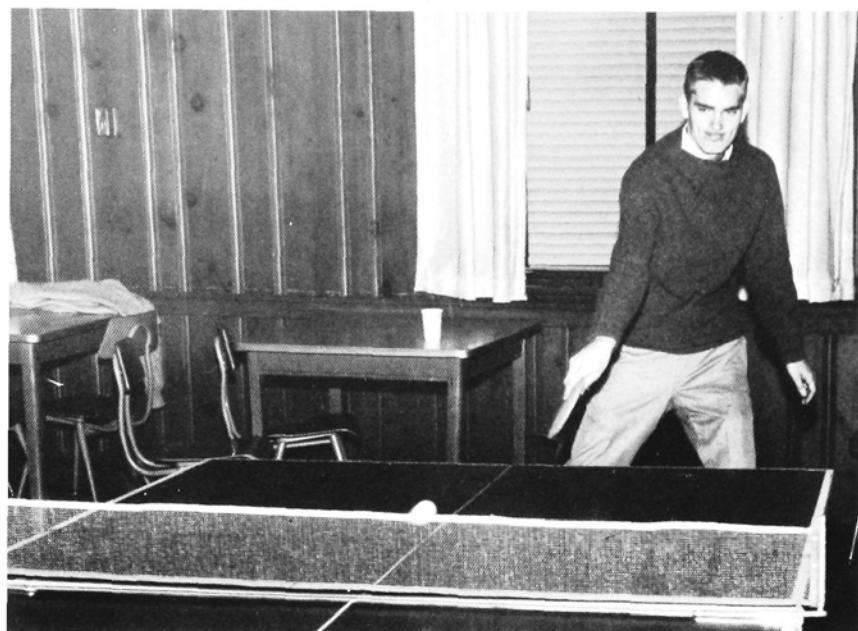

Activity, And Friendship

Solitude affords us the chance to become intimately aware of the simplicity of the world when all too often we have become caught up in the complexities of life. Given to us is the opportunity for reflection and objective thinking so necessary for personal growth. Through participation in the college community, the individual matures not only by himself but with others as they experience together the warm relationships radiated in the light of friendship.

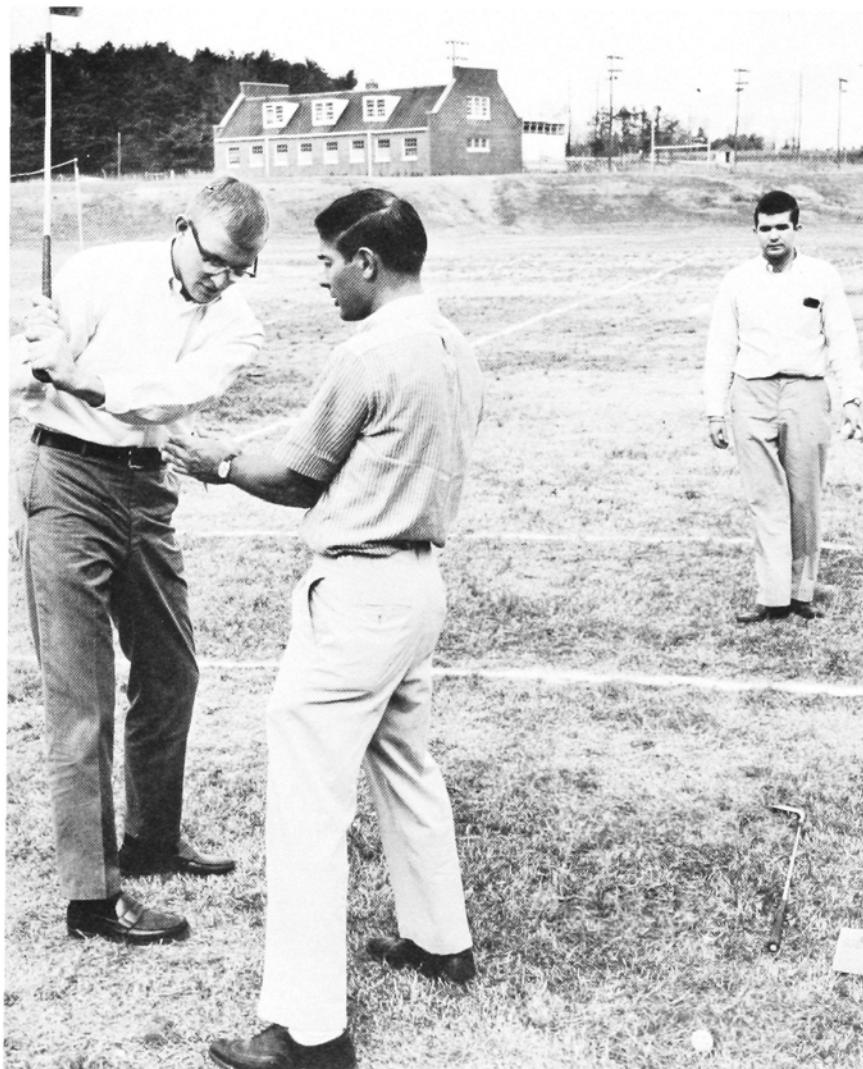

Physical Light . . .

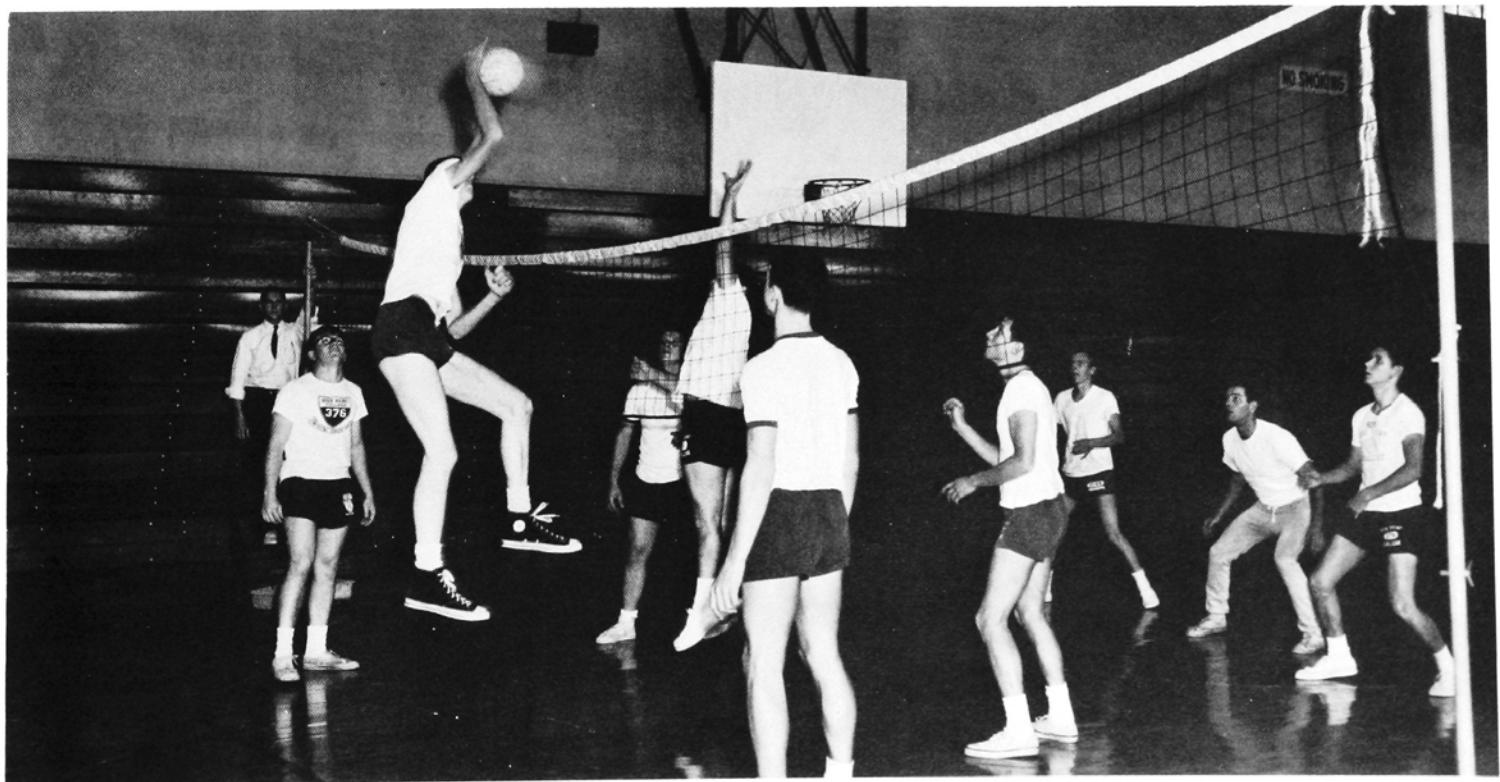

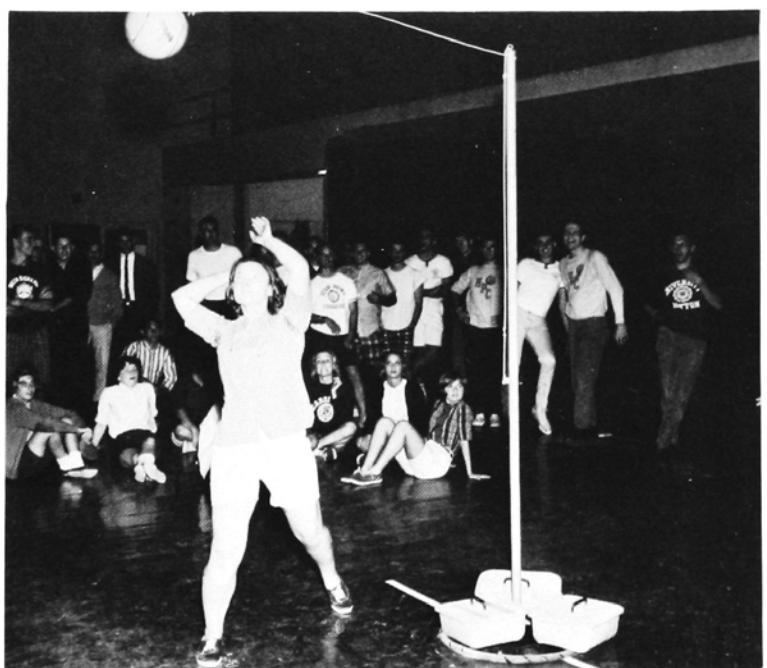

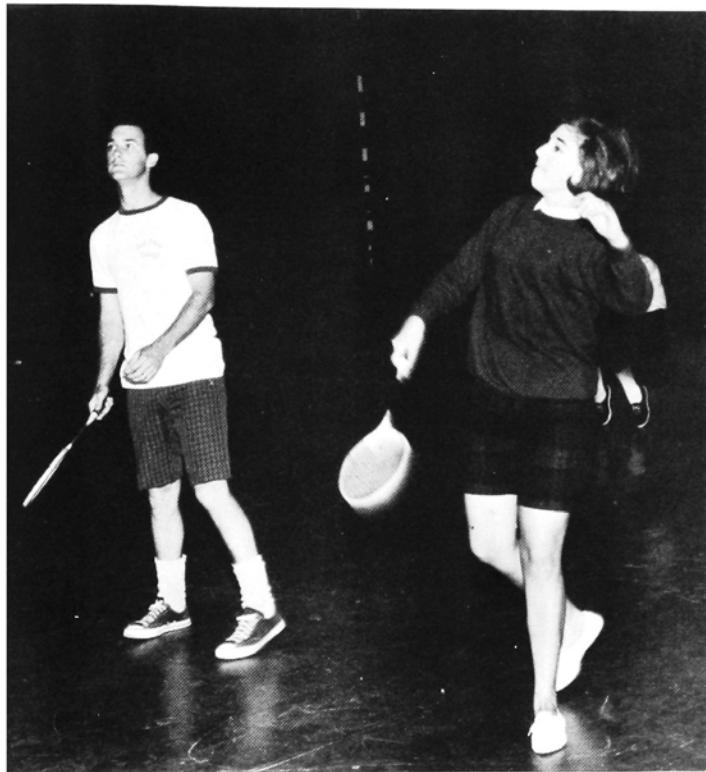

Through emphasis on physical development, physical education attempts to develop the whole person as a well-rounded individual. Physical abilities are developed, and along with these comes increased ability for good personal relationships as various physical goals are sought.

The environment of an individual greatly influences his character and the traits of his life. Physical development is an integral part of this environment. Not only is it concerned with the learning of skills, but also with developing sportsmanship, leadership, teamwork, and responsibility—lighting the way toward the development of a well-rounded individual.

Coordinating Mind and Body

This year, High Point College has taken a new and challenging step in its long path toward maturity as a distinguished institution of higher learning. Encircled in this step is a new "Three-Three Curriculum." With this program, High Point College hopes to become a leader in providing a superior streamlined education in the liberal arts and professional fields.

This was not a plan conceived and brought to reality within a short period of time. Over a number of years, the curriculum committee composed of the department heads, the Academic Dean of the college, and Registrar made studies and worked toward the perfection of this idea. Upon completion, the finished product was presented to the faculty for its approval. Because a new degree, the Bachelor of Arts in Teaching, was established, the new "Three-Three Curriculum" was presented to the Board of Trustees for its sanction, which was enthusiastically received.

The new "Three-Three Curriculum" offers the student three pathways to each of three different degrees: the Bachelor of Arts, the Bachelor of Science, and the newly formed Bachelor of Arts in Teaching. Each student meets the general education requirements and then enters the core area. A broader approach to each degree is provided by the core, which will allow the student a wider choice for study in his major field, the third pathway toward the degree.

With the "Three-Three Curriculum" a reality, all students will be able to reap its benefits.

ACADEMICS

With Pride We Dedicate

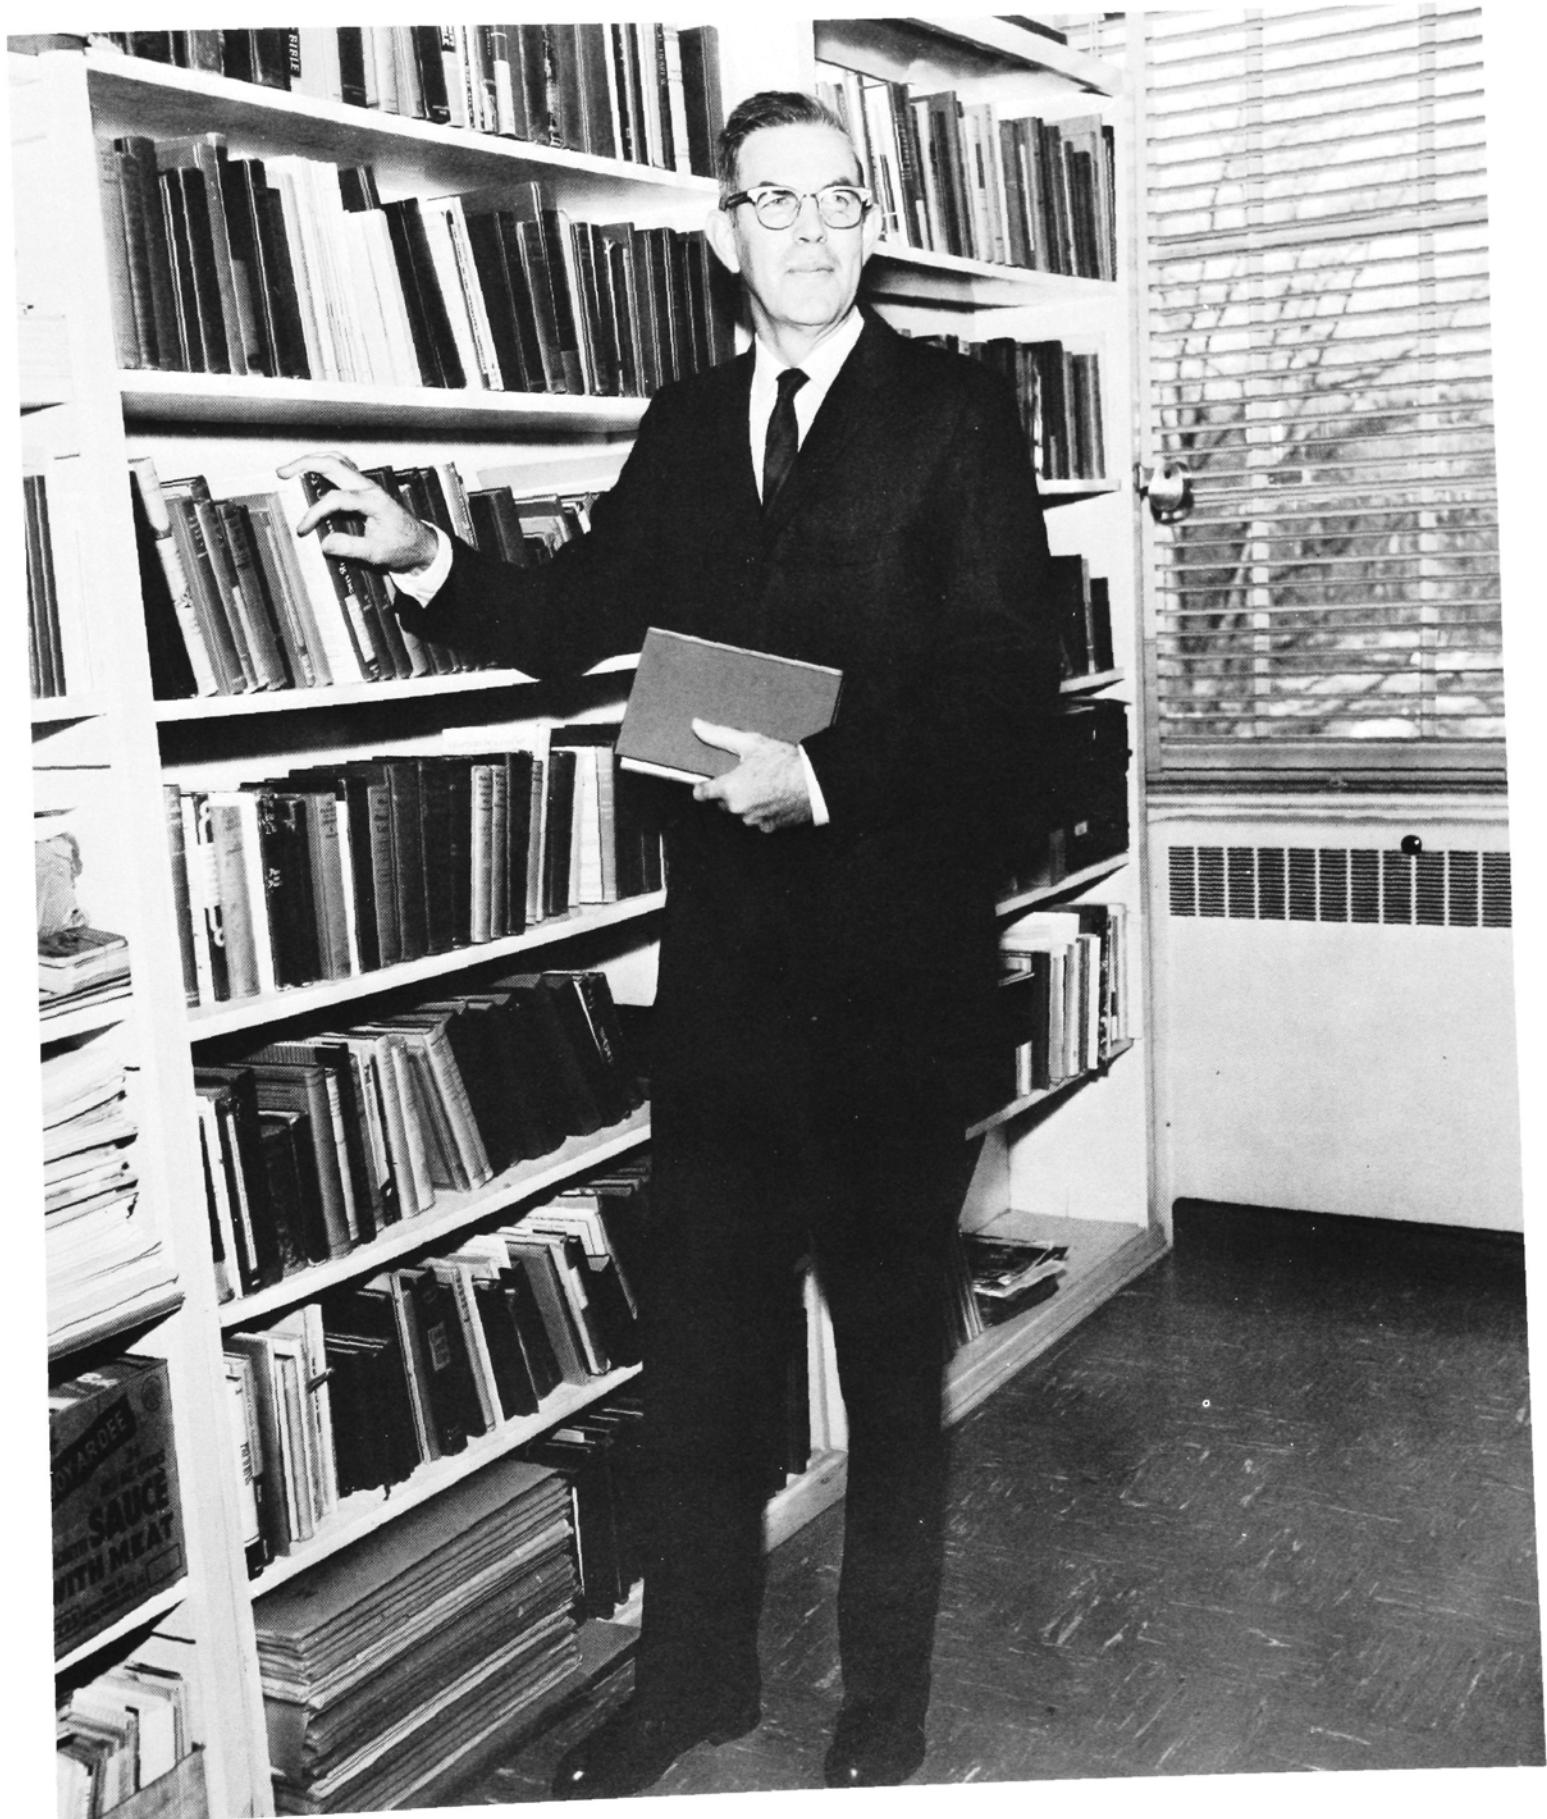

As students, much of our time is given to learning, enabling us to broaden our perspectives through an ever increasing awareness of the interrelatedness of all knowledge and life itself. It is the rare teacher who is able to make learning an event filled with joy and satisfaction for his students. It has been said that you can't teach a man anything; you can only help him to find it within himself. Because of his genuine concern for and belief in young people, Dr. Locke is just such a teacher.

To a man who has through his service, instruction, and genuine friendly interest in every student, become a light to all members of the High Point College community, we proudly dedicate the 1965 ZENITH.

The 1965 ZENITH To . . .

Dr. William R. Locke

Tribute . . .

Mrs. Bobbie Everhart

One of the most horrifying experiences for a young person who has severed the home-ties for the first time in his life is to be laid ill in a land of strangers. However, should he be fortunate enough to be administered to by a good Samaritan, as was the forsaken Jew, his fears will be eased and he will soon return healthfully to campus activity.

To recognize Mrs. Bobbie Everhart as HPC's "good Samaritan" may not be the most original tribute that has ever been paid to her, but it does, in part, imply the great sacrifice she has made to her home, her health, and her family in spending so many extra hours caring for the sick, and doing everything in her power to see that they obtained prompt, adequate medical attention. Yet, she was not the usual robot in white that so many nurses appear to be. Rather, she was a friend to each and every student who migrated within the premises of her outpost, her personality being of such a genuineness that complete ease in her presence was inevitable.

Perhaps the preceding few sentences may seem a bit flowery and flattery to you, Mrs. Everhart, but they are not meant to be so. They are our limited attempt to say "Thank you for enabling us to preserve our bodies in order that we might not be hampered from achieving our goal—our education." With this sincere and heartfelt gratitude, we dedicate this monument of the past year to you.

Presidents Message to the Class of 1965

"Behold, I make all things new"—Revelation 21:5

A professor of mine once wrote an unknown quote on the blackboard, "A child went forth and everything he encountered, he became." He made no comment—it was never discussed—and the real meaning was not realized by any of us for many years.

No truer words were ever spoken, particularly for a college student. Every experience of life is somehow received, recorded, and stored somewhere among our ten billion brain cells, which in turn, makes us the individual we are. You are completing four years of a combination of happy, sad, rewarding, challenging, and frustrating experiences that have culminated in your degree. All of these have contributed to the person you are today and the person you are in the process of becoming. We hope that most of them have been profitable, and that you have a good start on the lifetime road to learning.

It is not so much what happens to you but how you react to it that is important. There is a lesson to be learned, a profit to be had from every experience in life, no matter how unpleasant it may be—provided you have the emotional maturity to find it. This is the thought I would leave with you as you begin a new series of experiences as an adult and important member of society. Continue your learning and your development as an individual—take advantage of all opportunities and all experiences in life to become a better, more mature, stable, and thoughtful person and a more powerful and forceful Christian.

Indeed, all things are new . . . and important!

Wishing for you God's greatest blessings.

Biology Department

The Department of Biology offers eighteen courses in the Life Sciences, Plant Science, and Animal Science. Earth Science is also housed in this department. Two courses in Geology are offered now, with Paleontology being added in 1965.

In spring of 1964, the Biology Department received a National Science Undergraduate Equipment Grant in the sum of $16,230.00. The new equipment purchased with this grant adds greatly to the teaching of our laboratory courses and furnishes students first hand experience in handling the latest scientific equipment which better prepares them for their careers in teaching or graduate school. Efforts are made to give students every opportunity to pursue individual study and research beyond the regular lecture-laboratory type of course work.

The faculty of the department is encouraged to do independent research. Dr. Miller has a number of publications dealing with research he conducted while in Tucson, Arizona. Dr. Lazaruk received two research grants from the Piedmont University Center for studies of Chlorophyta in North Carolina fresh waters, and the effects of minerals on algal growth.

Business Department

Principles of accounting is a prerequisite to all accounting courses offered in the Business Department.

The Department of Business Administration and Economics offers advanced work leading to the Bachelor of Arts Degree, Bachelor of Science Degree, and the Bachelor of Teacher Education Degree. Students may complete major or minor areas of concentration in the Department. The Department places strong emphasis upon a thorough liberal arts background as well as the development of professional skills in the field. The Department takes its guidance responsibilities seriously so that its majors and minors receive the needed continuity within the Department with a minimum of confusion.

Chemistry Department

Education cannot now be considered complete without an understanding of science and its role in modern society. The methods of science demand a logic and accuracy of reasoning not found elsewhere.

The Chemistry and Physics departments have coordinated their two curricula in order to make students more aware of the interplay of the sciences and to recognize the integral part they play in society.

For students who wish to major in Chemistry, the curriculum is comprehensive and thorough and conforms to the minimum standards of the American Chemical Society. The student majoring in chemistry may, upon graduation, be employed in one of the many phases of industry or may enter graduate school for further study.

Since scientific information is about doubling every ten years it is becoming less and less possible for an individual to absorb a significant amount. The major in science is encouraged to develop the ability to think and reason in carefully chosen areas rather than attempt to assimilate gross amounts of material. He is encouraged to analyze, understand and adapt to change rather than be confined by his memory.

English Department

A survey of Western World Literature is an intensive study of outstanding works in the literature of Western civilization.

The goals of the English Department are to teach reading, writing, and interpretive skills for all students. The general education courses of the first two years are designed to build these competencies. Also, the department offers advanced courses leading to a major in English, and there are many possibilities for students who want a minor in this field, or who feel they want to broaden their knowledge through English elective courses.

Majors either go directly to graduate school upon graduation or enter the teaching profession, according to their own interests. However the number of graduate students is unusually high.

The English Department staff is especially interested in the creation of an atmosphere which emphasizes quality rather than quantity, in which atmosphere a student may pursue knowledge to his best advantage.

History Department

History is a study of human behavior from the earliest surviving artifacts of ancient man to our contemporary age. The History Department at High Point College traces man's cultural and scientific achievements and the cross fertilization of civilizations which demonstrate the impact of Africa, Asia, Greece, and Rome upon modern western thought and culture.

Emphasis is placed upon the industrial and scientific revolutions and the upheavals affecting man's political, social, economic, and cultural environment. New problems arising out of the dawn of the atomic and space ages receive specific consideration. Students become familiar with the principal schools of history and the developments of historical thought associated with these schools.

Since history is regarded as the parent of the social sciences, the relationship between history and the social sciences, natural sciences and the humanities is stressed by members of the department.

Freshmen participate in a study of the development of western civilizations.

In our modern world the command of a foreign language is of increasing importance in every phase of life. Realizing this, the Modern Language Department is constantly striving to create the atmosphere for mastering three modern languages: French, Spanish, and German.

The primary purpose of the department is to teach the student to appreciate the origin of these languages and then to grasp the speech with proper accent and limited vocabulary as well as reading and writing it. The student is then exposed to the literature of the country whose language he is studying, thereby preparing him to meet the cultural advancement of his modern life.

It is also the aim of the department to promote friendly relations between people of our own and other countries through increased understanding of languages, customs, and cultures. The ability to understand other peoples through the study of their languages and literatures is of increasing importance in a world which, through improved means of transportation and communication, is growing smaller.

Col. C. J. Cook
Department Head

Miss L. Adams

Mathematics Department

The most important purpose of the Mathematics Department is to furnish a well-rounded program of mathematics for students who have chosen this area as their field of major concentration. The department also provides the necessary background in mathematics for students majoring in one of the sciences as well as required mathematics courses for students taking the Pre-Engineering, Pre-Forestry, or Pre-Medical Curriculum in preparation for their transfer to other institutions for completion of studies in these fields.

The interest and encouragement of the mathematics department is not limited to majors in this field and background courses for the sciences, however. The mathematics department is an integral part of the total education program of the college and provides an adequate background in mathematics for all students graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree in any of the various departments.

Mr. Davidson demonstrates the fundamentals of golf.

Physical Education Department

It is the purpose of the Department of Physical Education and Health to initiate an appreciation for the rules and laws of exercise and healthful living in society through physical education activities and academic courses in hygiene and health education. The principles of teaching and directing group activity and competitive sports are taught to those students with specific interests in the physical education field. A wide variety of courses is offered for the school requirements in physical education. These courses both increase the student's ability in the activities offered and provide him with healthful exercise.

Principles of religious education offers a study of methods of guiding children, youth, and adults in religious development.

Religion Department

In order to make all students aware of their spiritual heritage and to relate this heritage to contemporary society's philosophy and ideals, the Religion Department offers general courses in religious interpretation of the Bible. Other advanced courses study world religions, religion in America today, and the literature of the Christian faith. Also, courses in Religious Education are offered for those students planning to participate in the work of the church—either as layworkers or professionals. Many students graduating with a major from this department go directly into graduate study in seminary or in a university.

The first course for freshmen is spent in the discovery of historical, literary, and religious values in the Old Testament.

Dr. L. M. Hays
Department Head

Mr. Wm. Cope

Sociology Department

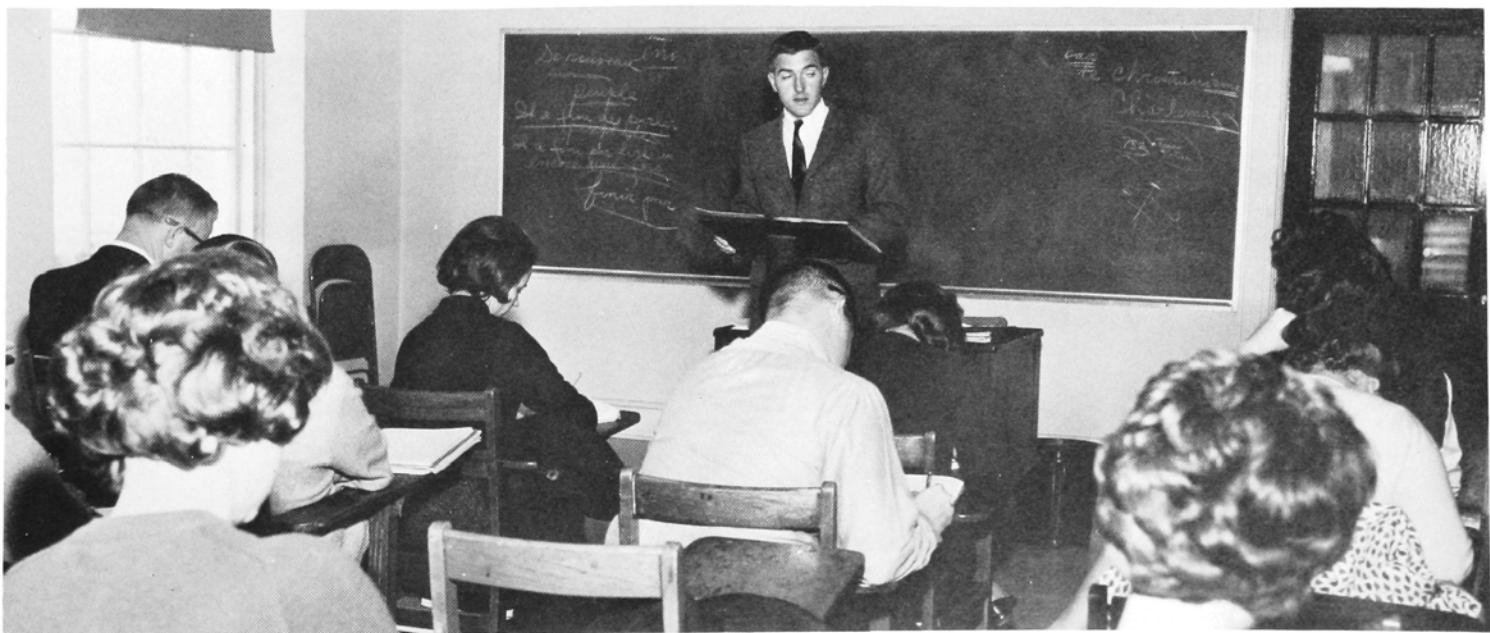

It is the aim of the Sociology Department to provide a curriculum which prepares the student to understand the total society of which his is a part, and to learn how he can make his individual contribution to that society.

A specific group of courses is required for one to major or minor in sociology. These courses have been selected to help the student understand the structure and interactional behavior of society. Special courses are also offered to prepare the student for a specific area of work, depending upon his or her selection of a profession.

The thirty-three hours of courses in sociology required for a major are only able to introduce a student to any particular field of concentration and to make him able to handle a specific position as a beginner. This will provide initial preparation for graduate study. A year or two of actual experience is suggested before doing graduate work to make the graduate work more beneficial.

General sociology is an analysis of society through a study of social principals and concepts.

Senior Class Ode

by Bill Avner

No birches to swing upon,
Climbing vainly near the top,
But not too near;

No strong oak tree
Planted in the soil of knowledge
With deep and sturdy roots;

No Grecian Urn or drop of rain
To inspire our thoughts
And move us nearer to reverence;

And last, no love for existence
And all the values men put
Upon Nature and the Love of God.

In days of darkness when dimly glows the evanescence
of long-forgotten moments;

In days of gloom when hope fails even to inspire a minute's peace;

In days of despair when faith grows weak from offensive attacks of Life's reality;

What then is left?
What shall we do?
Where shall we turn?

In the death of life when weak men perish;
When strong men fail and power exists no more;

In the ends of our beginnings when light grows dark;
When warmth grows cold and faith despairs;

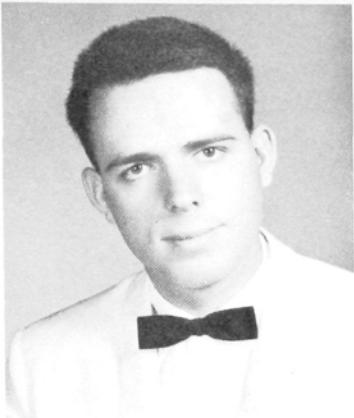

In the moment of truth when knowledge exists no more;
When wisdom falters and Life cries out in pain;

And death may come,
And pain may cease,
And life may end;

What then is left?
What shall we do?
Where shall we turn?

Some may say, "Who cares?"
Some may not speak at all.

A sort of quiet settles and a new light burns dimly in the corner of reality;
A slight wind (in soft seclusion) disturbs nothing but the silent grass;
Life yawns to begin a new day and opens sleepy eyes on a new tomorrow;
As the muscles of the earth quake with restrained vigor,
And as Need calls out for a new beginning,
Who will say, "I care!"
And who will answer the call of Life?

The Junior Class

Steve Buff
President

The Junior year marks a bright new beginning for the student. He is undoubtedly well adjusted to college life, but this year his courses have more meaning because they are those which he has chosen rather than those which he is required to take. The knowledge that he is in his major field of study helps the Junior toward bigger and more rewarding experiences. Thoughts of graduation, teaching, and graduate school begin to enter the Junior's mind more frequently with his final year just beyond the horizon.

The Sophomore Class

A new light seems to have fallen on the sophomore. The dim and uncertain views of college, as experienced in his freshman year, have now come into sharper focus and his views are clearer and more established. The sophomore expresses a desire to show his new confidence through initiating freshmen and Beanie Court procedures. Another factor providing him with self assurance is the fact that he is now considered an upperclassman. Because he is no longer required to live in dormitory areas designated for freshmen, the sophomore finds his horizons broadened through intermingling among juniors and seniors, and he begins to feel closer to the center of life in the college community.

The college freshman, a seeking young adult, left his home, his own world of family and friends, and came to college in quest of new enlightening experiences. At first he wore not only the traditional beanie but also an air of bewilderment. His first few weeks seemed a mass of confusion, studying, and little sleep. Mail from home suddenly took on great importance and any communication from the "outside world" was greeted enthusiastically. But, gradually, his newness faded with each succeeding dawn and a more realistic light began to fall on his college activities. Now he too has become an active, vital part of the whole—our student body—as he has formed new friendships, participated in many activities, and has attempted to learn the true meaning of the pursuit of knowledge.

College life presents itself in many ways, both in and out of the classroom. The opportunity for active participation in outside activities is unlimited, as there is a place for each student. The intellectual as well as the athlete can each fulfill his interest. Among the campus organizations are those promoting governmental experience, service, religious emphasis, professional interest, and creative expression. While working toward a mutual goal, the member of an organization is provided with fellowship and team work.

The Student Government Association offers the student who is interested in government on the local basis the opportunity to express himself in one or more of its three divisions. The Young Republicans Club and Young Democrats Club give the student a closer look at government on the national level. On the other hand, if the student desires to develop his ability for literary expression, he can find a challenging outlet for writing as a staff member of the ZENITH, HI PO, or APOGEE.

For the student interested in broadening his religious outlook, organizations such as the Student Christian Association and Fellowship Teams offer the benefits of fellowship, service, and worship. The inspirational programs offered by numerous religious groups leave the student with a better idea of what college and life are all about.

The Order of the Lighted Lamp, High Point College's oldest honor society, stresses leadership and service to the college. Love of learning and scholarship are the by-words of the Scholastic Honor Society. One of the greatest honors a student can receive is to be selected as a member of one of these honor societies.

Organizations teach their members the value of time, and are one of the best avenues to friendship outside of the dormitories. Extra-curricular activities play a vital role in college life and are one thing which no well-rounded student should be without.

The Student Christian Association endeavors to help the students, faculty, and administration develop a deep awareness of the love of God and to help them grow into a meaningful relationship with God, Jesus Christ, and their fellowmen through the encouragement of and participation in various religious activities. The Orientation Worship attempted to point out the importance of religion in the college years to future life. Through the Finch Lectures, we studied the cultural situation with Bishop J. Owen Smith. This year the S.C.A.'s major program, Religion in Life, attempted to analyze "The New Morality" movement as presented in various modern publications and as evidenced within our society. Other highlights of the year were a picnic at City Lake and a heated bus for the annual Christmas Caroling.

Looking back, we remember stimulating programs — "Is The Bible Authoritative?", "LISTEN Mission To Korea," "Christian Doubt: A Sign of Failure or a Key to Faith" — A busy year of busy students planning for a better year — next year.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega is a National Service Fraternity, the largest Greek letter organization in the world. The purpose of this fraternity is to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath and Law and to follow the three cardinal principles of Leadership, Friendship and Service. The Mu Xi chapter of HPC cooperates with the faculty, campus organizations, and community groups in various areas of service as well as carrying out activities of its own. Activities this year include decorating for SGA dances, assisting two Boy Scout troops, sponsoring Peace Corps Day, helping on charitable drives, the Thanksgiving fling and the Tanglewood picnic dance.

Fellowship Teams

"I've never seen God but I know how I feel; it's people like you who make Him so real. . . ."

Such is the reaction to Fellowship Teams by the groups which the teams have visited and worked with. In no other organization is found the opportunity to serve and be served that is offered in Fellowship Teams. The teams visit and aid youth groups in local churches all over the state, helping in such areas as organization, program planning, and recreation.

The purposes of Alpha Delta Theta, a religious-service sorority, are thought about learned by all the sisters with interest and a serious desire to see that they are achieved. These purposes are: to enrich the spiritual life of the young women of High Point College, to encourage and offer opportunities for Christian service, to provide Christian fellowship, to promote exchange of ideas and experiences among members of the organization, and to correlate Christian living with vocational plans. The sisterhood strives to live up to its purposes by following the motto "Sisters in the service of God."

Student Government Association

Art Warren, Treasurer

Brenda Symmes, Secretary

Don Bryant, Vice-President

Tracy McCarthy, President

As stated in the S.G.A. Constitution, the purpose of the Student Government Association on campus is "to develop student honor and self-control, to encourage right ideals and promote personal responsibility, and to foster the principles of self-government." The Student Government Constitution calls for a three-department system. Provisions are made for executive, legislative, and judiciary branches, under the leadership of the president of the student body.

The Executive Council, composed of four officers, is elected by the student body during the last of the spring semester. This council acts as a co-ordination unit for the other branches, reviews legislation and brings cases of violation of regulation to the Judiciary Council.

The S.G.A. is an organization of, for and by the students; however, a sincerely interested and cooperative student body cannot operate effectively and harmoniously without the backing of a competent and dedicated executive council. It is through the compatibility of these two groups, the students and the student leaders, that the S.G.A. has worked with greatest efficiency.

Judiciary Council

The Judiciary Council has the responsibility of trying all cases involving infractions of laws of the Student Government Association. The Chief Justice for 1964-1965 is Wayne Furman.

Wayne Furman, Chief Justice; Steve Pearson, Prosecutor.

Standing, left to right: John Swan, Jan Samet, Steve Pearson, Wayne Furman, John Starling, Jerry Proffitt.

Student Legislature

Steve Buff—Speaker
Pam Hancox—Secretary

The Student Legislature, a branch of the S.G.A., is composed of a representative Unicameral system. The Legislature includes four members of each class (three elected delegates and each class president, the Presidents of the Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Councils, the Dormitory President, the Day Students President, and the four members of the Executive Council of the Student Government (as non-voting members). The Student Legislature plays a vital role in the functioning of the Student Government in that it acts on all bills, resolutions, and recommendations proposed by the delegates on matters pertaining to student and campus life.

Student National Education Association

Anne Booth
President

Betsy Neese
Treasurer

Bitsy Dupree
Secretary

Janet Early
Vice-President

The Calvin Wiley chapter of the Student National Education Association began the year with a tea for old and prospective members. Membership in S.N.E.A. this year consisted of eighty-two students planning to enter the teaching profession, all of whom contributed in making the 1964-65 school year a success for the Association.

S.N.E.A. endeavors to serve as a connecting link between the students and their future profession. By presenting programs of interest to other education majors and by attending various workshops and conferences, members learn more about the preparation of, demands on, and ethics of the teacher today. Members also subscribe to state and national publications which bring additional insight and help to these future educators.

Women's Dormitory Council

Housemothers: Mrs. Hilda Owens, North and Yadkin Halls; Mrs. Mary Bennett, Woman's and Wesley Halls.

The Women's Dormitory Council exists for the purpose of making and enforcing laws as a means of developing individual honor, self-control, and personal responsibility.

Officers: Eve Jones, President; Ann Talley, Vice President; Anne Booth, Recording Sec.; Helen Paisley, Treasurer; Dawn Lankford, Corresponding Sec.

Men's Dormitory Council

Housemothers: Mrs. Frances McMeekin-Kerr, J. Ed Millis Hall;
Mrs. Hazel Long, McCulloch Hall

Ray Alley, President

The Men's Dormitory Council is the governing body of the resident students in McCullough Hall and J. Ed Millis dormitory. They assist in freshman orientation and handle any minor infractions of the dormitory rules. With the guidance of Mrs. Long and Mrs. McMeekin-Kerr, resident housemothers, the officers have made dormitory life a rich and rewarding experience for resident men students.

Left to right: Hugh Cates; Bob Seaver, Vice-President; Joe Forte, Head Proctor; Ray Alley, President; Ken Gilliam, Secretary-Treasurer.

Day Students

Stephen Walker, President

The day students of High Point College play an important part in the total life of the college, composing half of the student body. Day students may be found in a variety of places on campus, their second home.

Whether in the classroom, the library, book store or student center, they are an active part of student life. Looking for parking places or getting a book from the "car library" the day students contribute the liveliness of the entire student body until the daily trek back home to the hills at the end of a long day of classes, studying, and socializing.

The English Club is not a club in the ordinary sense of the word. It is a meeting of minds, emotions, humours, and, of course, bodies. But whereas in "clubs" the body element prevails, in English Club the hilarity and intellectual stimulation of its crazy-mad sponsor evoke the spontaneity of students who have come together to learn, to teach and to reflect. Programs range from an intensive analysis of Chad Walsh's poetry to a lecture by an authority on Renaissance Music in Literature to a way-out interpretive pantomime of modern poetry. Discussions on graduate schools, excursions to the McMeekin-Kerr mountain domain, and exciting holiday travelogues provide entertaining variety in the life of our club. The English Club members dine sumptuously . . .

The Physical Education Majors Club of High Point College was organized to further the welfare and learning of the members; to foster activities in the field of Physical Education; to facilitate interest through programs, methods, techniques, and activities; to promote a sound campus and community understanding of Physical Education; and to raise the professional standards for the future of the occupation.

One of the most active clubs on campus, the P. E. Majors Club has sponsored many programs in which the entire student body has been invited to participate. Each year the club has an awards banquet at which time members of all athletic teams are recognized for their performances and a plaque is awarded to the outstanding senior Physical Education Major.

Women's Athletic Association

The Woman's Athletic Association of High Point College was reorganized in the 1963-64 school year with the purpose of promoting interest in athletic and recreational activities among the women of the college as a means of promoting sports, fellowship, and health. The W.A.A. plans to continue sponsoring an intramural program in basketball, softball, and individual sports. Besides intramurals, The Women's Athletic Association promotes an inter-school program in field hockey, basketball, and volleyball.

The purpose of the Young Democrats and Young Republicans Clubs are to encourage young people to take an active interest in politics and public affairs, and to affiliate with and become members of their respective parties; to give them an opportunity to participate in party affairs thereby providing them the experience and training necessary for leadership in political and governmental activity; to provide the means for them to meet candidates seeking local, state, and national offices; to promote social activities with other members of their respective clubs throughout the state and nation; and to support the platform and policies of their respective parties.

High Point College Band

Mr. Robert Clark, Director

The concert band helps to fulfill the aesthetic needs of the college and surrounding communities by performing the best band literature available in the most musically effective manner. Membership in this organization is open to the general college student as well as to the music major; the emphasis is on increasing skills, knowledge, and appreciation of music through the performing medium.

During this school year the band under the direction of Mr. Robert Clark, played a concert for the Parents Day assembly as well as participating in an assembly program for the college. Among other activities were a weekend trip to Lynchburg, Virginia, where two concerts were played; music for the ceremony at which Governor McKeithan of Louisiana was awarded an Honorary Doctorate, an extended tour in the spring; and an evening concert for the general public and the college.

High Point

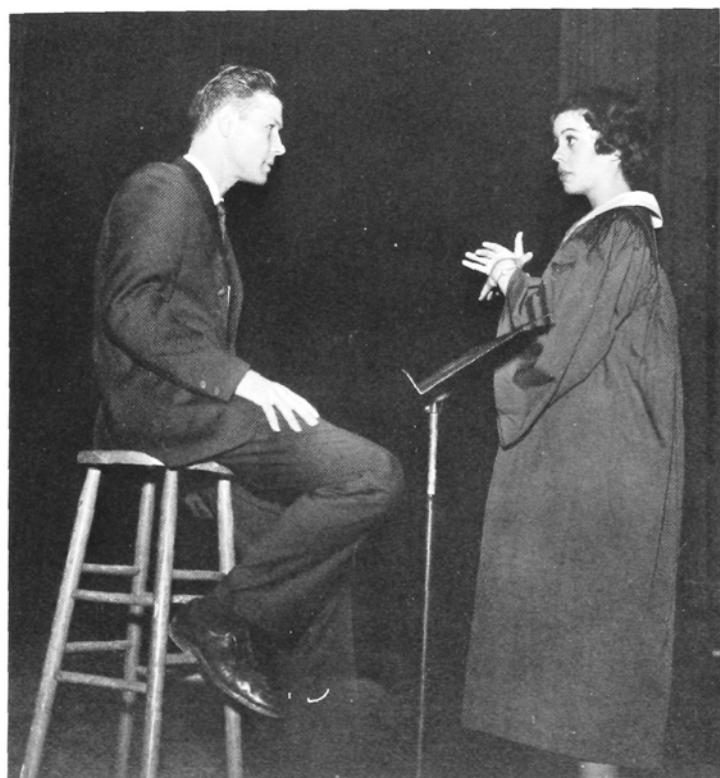

During the 1964-65 school year the High Point College Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Charles Lynam, has performed many times for the benefit and enjoyment of the student body and for various organizations both on and off of the campus. The choir has been a familiar sight in the weekly assembly programs and has played an important part in making chapel services a more meaningful experience for students and faculty, as well as for those participating in the choir.

Membership in the Concert Choir is taken from students throughout the college. Interested music majors and non-music majors are always welcome additions to the choir which deserves recognition for its fine work this year.

Among the choir's activities this year were participation in the Parent's Day assembly, Christmas and Spring concerts, and providing music for the Baccalaureate service and Commencement. Included in its off-campus activities were tours through North Carolina and Virginia.

Mr. Charles Lynam, the director of the choir, is a recent addition to the High Point College faculty. Before coming to High Point College, Mr. Lynam taught in the music department of Elon College from 1958 to 1963. He received the A.B. Degree from Elon College and the M.A. Degree from New York University. While teaching here, Mr. Lynam is working toward a Doctor of Music degree at Indiana University. We welcome him as a member of our faculty and express appreciation for the work he has done with the choir this year.

Tower Players

The highlight of the High Point College stage this year was Dr. Lew Lewis's opera, The Merchant of Venice, which was directed by Mr. Don Drapeau. The cast consisted of professionals, professors, and student actors. Tower Players worked closely with Mr. Drapeau and Dr. Lewis in coordinating set construction, make up, and other technical crews. In addition to the opera, The Tower Players produced Seneca's Oedipus. The play was produced in the style of readers theater.

Second semester The Tower Players were again quite active. Displaying their talents in an original one act play by Herman Coble, Jr., The Tower Players took to the boards again. The one act was filmed and televised.

The Hi-

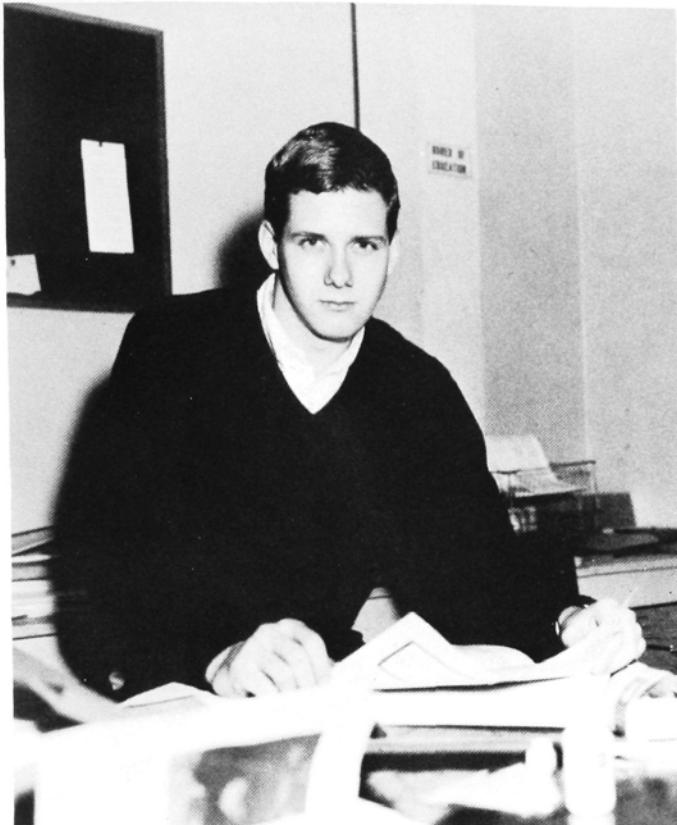

Al Rauch, Editor-in-Chief

The newspaper on a college campus has a special responsibility to the students. Acting as a voice for the students it must seek to reflect student opinion honestly, it must serve as a forecaster of coming events, and it must bring into review outstanding campus activities. The task is difficult, and often criticism is the only response; however, the Hi Po staff continues to do an exceptionally good job in fulfilling its responsibility to the students.

Apogee

The purpose of the Apogee is to enrich the life and intellectual growth of the High Point College campus. However, readability is one of the primary objectives of the staff with the hope that the contributions will reach the interests of the students. The magazine features creative work done and selected only by the students.

In competitions with other schools this size, High Point College's literary publication, Apogee, placed second in the nation in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest last year. It is the hope of the staff and of the school that this cultural venture will thrive and continue in the tradition in which it has begun.

The 1965 Zenith staff has worked fast and furiously to meet the February 15th deadline set for this year. Through a co-ordinated effort on the part of each of the individual staffs a unique annual has gone to press. We hope that you, the student body, will enjoy this the product of our sleepless nights, failed exams, and bad dispositions!

We have taken great pleasure in producing this book which we hope will mark the beginning of a new era in the Zenith. The road has been rough at times but all of us on the staff feel that the product has been well worth the effort.

Honoraries

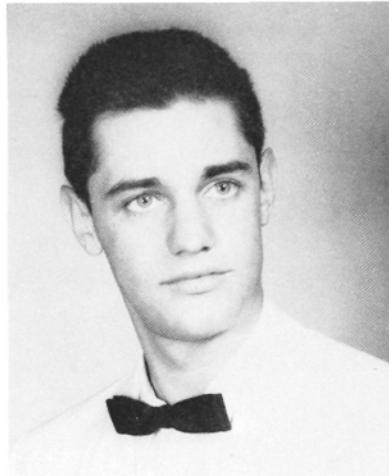

1965 Who's Who in American

Eleven seniors were elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." The eleven seniors were selected on the basis of character, scholastic performance, leadership ability, and contributions to campus life. The seniors selected from High Point College possess these qualities and have been recognized for their outstanding contributions to the welfare of the school and to the promotion of the school image to the general public.

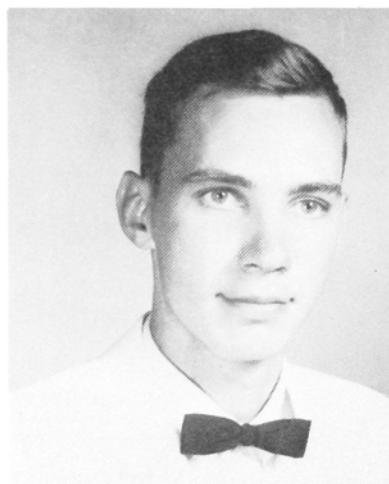

Don George Bryant

Don is President of his fraternity, Theta Chi. He served on the Student Legislature during his freshman, junior and senior years. He was chairman of the orientation committee last year having served as a member of the committee for three years previously. Don is also Vice-President of the Student Government Association and has served as coordinator of entertainment for the S.G.A. He has served as chairman of the City College Relations Committee.

John D. Kennedy

John is President of Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity and is a member of Kappa Chi. He has for two consecutive years served as President of the Student Congress and serves on the President's Advisory Council.

William (Tracy) McCarthy

Tracy is President of the Student Government Association. He has been active in varsity basketball and varsity tennis. He is a member of the Physical Education Majors Club and has been on the tennis team. Because of his academic achievement, Tracy's name has appeared on the Dean's List for four semesters.

Flora Eve Jones

Eve has served as President and Vice-President of the Women's Dormitory Council and is a member of the Student Christian Association Council. She is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp and the Student Legislature. Eve has received a $900 scholarship to Garrett School of Theology at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois for the fall of 1965.

Clara Jane Neal

C. J. is the Homecoming Queen and is the Carolina's Conference Tournament Queen. She is also chief cheerleader having been a cheerleader for four years. Active in Fine Arts Programs she has been a member of the Tower Players and the College Choir. C. J. is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp and was a Junior Marshal. She has served the Hi Po as editor of Greek Activities and social editor.

Colleges and Universities

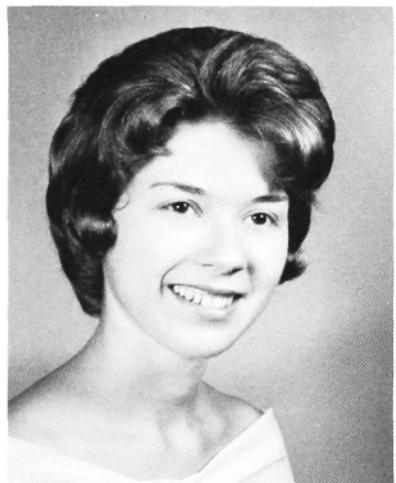

Elizabeth Oldham

Liz is Vice-President of Phi Mu sorority. She is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp, the English Club, and serves as associate editor of Apogee. As a Junior Marshal Liz has served the college during graduation exercises, civic events, and dramatic performances.

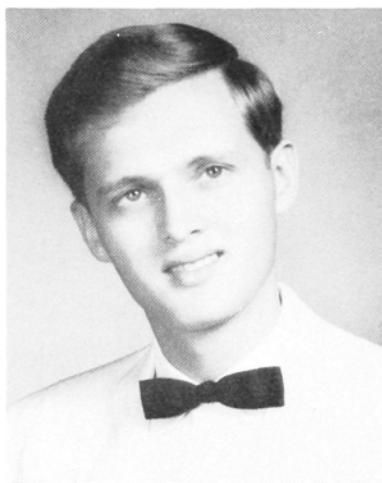

Helen Ruth Paisley

Helen is editor of Apogee having served on that staff in her junior year as business manager. She is treasurer of the Women's Dormitory Council and is a junior marshall. Helen helped to organize and is secretary of the English Club. Her name has appeared on the Dean's List and she holds a 2.5 average in academic achievement.

Carol Sue Parrish

Carol is editor of the college annual, ZENITH, having served as class editor for that publication during her sophomore year and associate editor during her junior year. She has been chosen by her classmates as a Top Ten Senior and serves on the President's Advisory Committee.

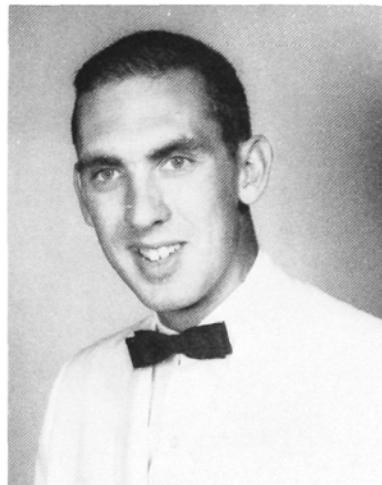

Albert Rauch

Al is editor of the High Point College newspaper, Hi Po, having worked on the staff for two years. Last year Al was a member of the Zenith Staff serving as the junior class editor. He is a member of the English Club and serves as Program Chairman for this organization. He is a member of the President's Advisory Committee.

Scholastic Honor Society

The Scholastic Honor Society was inaugurated in 1957 to stimulate the love of learning and to recognize and encourage scholarship. One of the greatest honors that a student can receive at High Point College is to be selected as a member of the Scholastic Honor Society. To become a member, a junior must have completed 75 semester hours of regular college work with a quality point ratio of 2.75. The minimum ratio for a senior is 2.25. Membership in this society consist of students, honorary and associate members.

College life consists of more than books and classes. The student's life on our campus can be as full and varied as the individual wishes—from formal dances to car washes, the student is given an opportunity for fun and friendship.

The new students on our campus begin their college activities with orientation week. Teas, dances, and finally the annual tug of war are among the first social activities of the fall semester. As the year progresses, the Student Government Association presents a number of well known groups at each of its fine dances.

The book store acts as a terminal for much of the student's daily life on campus. As he pauses between classes, he can enjoy a coke and the friendship of his fellow classmates here. An exciting game of ping pong, an entertaining television show, or relaxing melodies from the stereo can all be enjoyed in the student center which is designed for the comfort and pleasure of all.

The Greek world has become an ever more important part of the college campus as each year passes. Each of the Greek letter social fraternities and sororities makes a distinctive contribution to the social life of the college. High Point is fortunate in regard to its fraternities and sororities. Through self discipline, each organization upholds the ideals and policies of the college.

Homecoming is an excellent time for alumni to renew friendships made during college years and to note the changes and improvements in their alma mater. The excitement and tears of happiness as the homecoming queen is crowned are added to the lasting book of memories of the life of High Point College.

SOCIAL

Panhellenic Council

Jean McCollum, President

The Panhellenic Council is the coordinating group of the four sororities on the High Point College campus. The council is composed of each sorority represented in one of the four main offices and by the presidents of each individual sorority.

Greek Week is one way in which the sororities are drawn closer together. In the past, the week has included a Greek sing, sorority and fraternity debates, co-recreational events, and entertainment, and has been highlighted by a semi-formal dance held in conjunction with the I.F.C.

Conducting the rush program for incoming freshmen is one of the major activities of the Panhellenic Council. At this time the council plans a formal tea, "icebreakers," and rush parties in order to acquaint the freshmen with the Greek system at High Point College. Working together we create a week of frenzied, but enjoyable, memories that will long live in the minds of the rushees.

We encourage all Greek women to actively participate in civic service projects as well as campus sponsored social and educational activities.

With the help of our housemother, Mrs. Goolesby, we have upheld the purpose of the Panhellenic Council.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of the five Greek letter social fraternities. The Council serves as a media for discussion of fraternity affairs. The I.F.C. was established to promote interfraternity relations and to deal with interfraternity matters. The fraternities realize that a strongly constituted interfraternity organization is necessary in order to have a well oriented fraternal life.

Each year the council awards a trophy to the outstanding fraternity man of the year who has contributed the most to the betterment of the Greek system. The I.F.C. also presents annually the I.F.C. Scholarship Award to the fraternity which has the highest academic average of all the fraternities.

This year under the guidance of Commander George Netts, our faculty advisor, the I.F.C. continues its functions and programs. In conjunction with the Panhellenic Council a greek week was held, featuring a co-recreation night and a dance.

The Interfraternity Council has expanded its constitution this year and has further developed the rushing and pledging system of the fraternities on this campus. With the cooperation of all the fraternities on campus, the fraternity system at High Point College is rapidly becoming one of the strongest in the area.

Alpha Gamma Delta

The vision of Alpha Gamma Delta became a reality on May 30, 1904. On this day, eleven girls met in the home of Dr. Wellesley P. Coddington, a professor of philosophy at Syracuse University and a firm believer in the Fraternity system. Together they discussed, planned, and organized the beginnings of Alpha Gamma Delta.

Alpha Gamma Delta is an International Fraternity composed of ninety-three chapters throughout the United States and Canada. The total membership is 42,000. The colors of Alpha Gamma Delta are red, buff, and green, and the flowers are the red and buff roses.

Alpha Gamma Delta has as its International Altruistic Project a concentrated program of rehabilitation grants to benefit the work of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults. In 1962, a new service project was added concerning work in Cleft Palate. An endowment was given for the purchase and maintenance of a library known as Alpha Gamma Delta Library for Research in Cleft Palate which is located at Syracuse University.

Locally, Alpha Gamma Delta is active in campus organizations including intramurals. We have a number of informal parties, a semi-formal Christmas dance, and a spring formal—the Rose Ball.

Scholarship is also stressed. This chapter has been ranked in the top ten scholastically out of all chapters for the past five years.

The written purpose of Alpha Gamma Delta clearly sets forth the high ideals and standards of our fraternity in regard to understanding, health, friendship, service, honor, sincerity—all of which are important for an enriched college life and perfect womanhood.

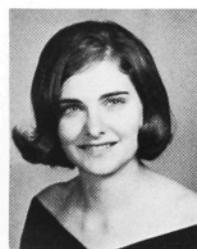

Anyone can see that you're an Alpha Gam!

Songs, Night, Laughter, and KAPPA DELTA.

Bride of Frankenstein?

The Open Motto of Kappa Delta, "Let us strive for that which is Honorable, Beautiful and Highest," was first shared by four college girls who founded Kappa Delta Sorority in 1897 at Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia.

Since 1955, when girls of Theta Phi became Gamma Gamma Chapter at High Point, we too have reached for these ideals. One hundred two chapters over the United States now place Kappa Delta among the six largest National Panhellenic Conference sororities.

We believe friendship best expresses itself in service. Kappa Delta was the first sorority to select as its national philanthropy aid to the Crippled Children's Hospital of Virginia. We also strive to help the community of High Point.

This year girls from over the country meet in Chicago for a National Convention which brings our ties closer together and helps the different chapters to improve.

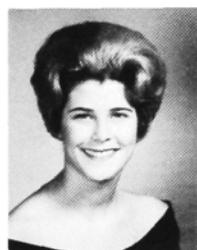

Each year outstanding sisters and pledges are recognized at the White Rose Ball. Also the pledges are traditionally sold at the Kappa Delta slave auction where talents such as house cleaning, shirt ironing and car washing go to the highest bidder.

Kappa Delta was founded on faith, hope and love. Our founders have challenged us to pursue the highest of ideals. Let us meet that challenge in our manner of living; they have given us Kappa Delta—let us be worthy of their gift.

Let me entertain you!

Three young girls at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia founded Phi Mu over a hundred and ten years ago, as the Philomathean Society. On March 4, 1852, the establishment of the Philomathean Society was announced. This date has been celebrated by Phi Mu ever since as Founder's Day.

The fraternity was incorporated under the laws of the state of Georgia in 1904, granting it the right to place chapters in other colleges throughout the United States—thus becoming a national fraternity for women.

Today, thousands of women and girls, belonging to one of the ninety or more collegiate chapters, wear the gold and black badge of Phi Mu—pledged to and living the high ideals of their founders. Those ideals—enduring friendship, loyalty to college and fraternity, high scholarship and service to others—form a heritage to which Phi Mu today owes its character and distinction.

One phrase of our Creed, "to lend to those less fortunate a helping hand," is the motivating force of Phi Mu's social service program. Phi Mu stretches out her hand in many directions. Our most recently adopted national philanthropy is the Project Hope—support of the ship S.S. Hope, which goes to underdeveloped countries of the world training doctors, nurses, and laboratory technicians.

In 1953, Phi Mu came to High Point College to become the first national fraternity for women on campus. Since that date, members of the High Point College chapter have been striving to uphold the ideals of the fraternity. Realizing that change is an inevitable part of growth, Phi Mu re-evaluates her organization through a National Convention held biennially. The most recent National Convention was held in 1964. Representatives from collegiate and alumnae chapters and clubs throughout the United States met to determine the policies of the Fraternity.

Phi Mu looks forward to a future that is based on its heritage and ideals, its strength in organization, numbers and resources, developed through over a century of continuous advancement.

The date was October 15, 1898. The setting was Longwood College at Farmville, Virginia. Little did the nine young girls, sparkling with excitement, realize that that night they would found a fraternity that was to grow to become the second largest fraternity for women in the nation. Now there are one hundred seventeen chapters, each with a personality of her own, but each proud of her heritage, her part in Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity.

The year 1964 was started off with a big rush campaign for Zeta Tau Alpha. After the thrill of pledging, an informal shindig was held at The Grange. Zetas proved their endurance by winning the speedball intramural trophy. Greek Week was participated in by Zeta Tau Alpha, during which time Zeta stressed her national service project, that of the all-important campaign against Cerebral Palsy. National Convention was attended by the President, Ann Organ, at Miami Beach. State Day was at Duke and biennial workshop at the University of South Carolina. Linda Perry, pledge trainer, urged 100% initiation and advised pledges on a pledge project. The 100th Link Ball, bringing with it all fulfillments of anticipation and careful planning, was given for the sisters and pledges at Schrafft's. Here, the Most Outstanding Senior, Sister, and Pledge were announced, and a Scholarship award was given to the girl who had most improved in scholarship during this year.

In 1899, in New York, at the College of the City of New York, Delta Sigma Phi was founded. Since then Delta Sigs have become known on campuses all over the nation and Canada.

A Delta Sig is many things. He is a person who loves his fraternity and what it stands for. He is willing to make personal sacrifices for his fraternity without expecting applause. He has learned to respect others and puts the interest of the group before his own. He is interested in improving his scholarship; in developing his personality; and in making a leader of himself. He realizes the help his fraternity will give him in later life and the advantages it offers him. Leadership, Scholarship, Personality Development, Social Life, Lasting Friendships, Development of Talents—these things are characteristic of a Delta Sig.

As the end of the semester nears, the memories of the year pass before us. Brothers leave for the summer months, but the spirit of Delta Sigma Phi remains.

"But I can't swim!"

Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Boston University on November 2, 1909. It took a persevering group of law students who were members of the Cosmopolitan Law Club more than a half century ago to conceive the idea of plunging into the very heart of the fraternity controversy. This group of law students not only had the foundation of a new national fraternity but they also increased the Chapter roll to a formidable size.

The fraternity's greatest period of growth was during and immediately after World War I. This surging growth resulted in significant improvements and the establishment of a central office in Kingston, Pa.

In 1939, the fraternity joined forces with Theta Kappa Nu. This merger increased the total chapters from seventy-eight to one hundred six. The union of the two fraternities was a natural culmination of a long time friendly relationship.

After this merger, Lambda Chi Alpha continued to grow and to improve its organization. Today, Lambda Chi Alpha is one of the largest national fraternities with one hundred sixty chapters in the country.

Delta Alpha Epsilon was founded at High Point College in 1928. In the years that followed, Delta Alpha Epsilon grew and prospered. In 1952 a need was felt for affiliation with a national fraternity and at this time the first contract with Lambda Chi Alpha was made. In 1953 forty-eight alumni and active brothers of Delta Alpha Epsilon were initiated.

The Pikas in their lounge!

The Dream Girl Ball

Miss Diane Holt, Fraternity Sponsor

Pi Kappa Alpha is a national fraternity which was founded on March 1, 1868 at the University of Virginia. From this humble beginning, Pi Kappa Alpha has grown tremendously and now has one hundred forty-two chapters located throughout these United States, seven of which are located in North Carolina. Delta Omega was chartered on February 7, 1953 and takes pride in the fact that it was the first national fraternity to come to High Point College. Pi Kappa Alpha fosters academic excellence and brotherhood which is exemplified by the fact that we seek quality in our pledges and brothers, not necessarily quantity.

Pikas began the new school year by participating in many civic projects which were of benefit to the fraternity as well as to the community. The Lions Club Annual Broom Sale, High Point Civitan Clubs Fruit Cake Sale—these are only a few of the projects participated in this year.

Of course Pikas will never forget the intramural activities at H.P.C. this year. Once again we captured the football and volleyball fraternity championships and we hope to capture the overall intramural championship which eluded us by only a few points last year.

Off to the beach we go at semester's end. See you next year!

TKE is for the "worker."

TKE stands for "clean living."

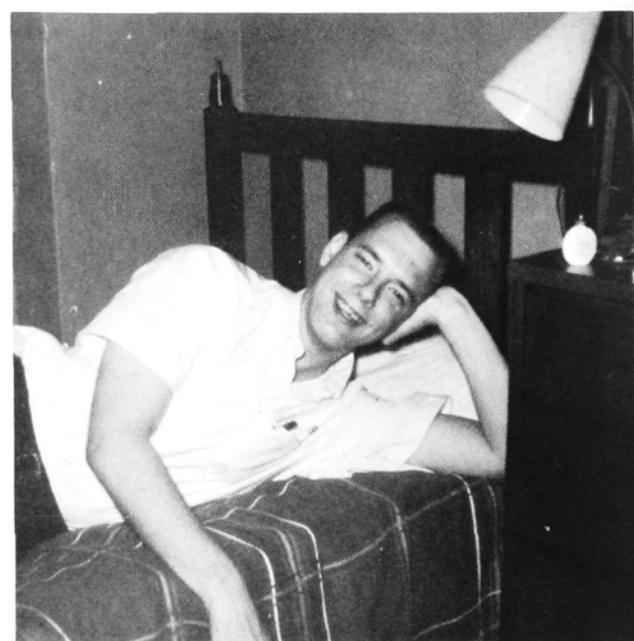

A Teke is known for his fine "character."

TKE

Since its inception sixty-five years ago, Tau Kappa Epsilon has been the progressive leader of the major social fraternities. The following achievements of TKE exemplify this characteristic: Tau Kappa Epsilon was the first fraternity to prohibit the use of the "black-ball" system of selecting members, Tau Kappa Epsilon was also the first major fraternity to specifically prohibit the physical use of paddles in pledge training, and, most importantly, Tau Kappa was the first fraternity to install a scholarship program for its members. This program has made Tau Kappa Epsilon the fraternity leader in the number of chapters ranking first in scholarship on their individual campuses.

Here at High Point College, the Delta Kappa chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon has upheld this tradition of academic excellence by winning the Henshaw Award for superior scholarship, with a scholastic average above all fraternities.

TKE stands for "good study habits."

On April 10, 1856, Theta Chi Fraternity was forged among the granite hills of Vermont at Norwich University. The Fraternity was seriously threatened by a rapid decline of student enrollment at Norwich because of the Civil War.

In its second century of existence, Theta Chi is composed of one hundred thirty-seven chapters and a total membership of 48,000.

For over a decade, Theta Chi's tradition and brotherhood have been represented on the High Point College campus. Epsilon Alpha was established as a social fraternity with emphasis placed on the well rounded student. The Epsilon Alpha chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity is a closely knit brotherhood. This year Epsilon Alpha was fortunate in initiating eight new brothers. It is the purpose of this fraternity to instill in these new brothers a desire for academic excellence which will reflect on themselves and on Epsilon Alpha.

When an individual receives an invitation of membership in Epsilon Alpha it is because he possesses a foundation of integrity upon which his social abilities can be developed.

Through the period of pledge training, the initiates learn that tolerance is a primary essential of personality and the binding force of Epsilon Alpha chapter of Theta Chi.

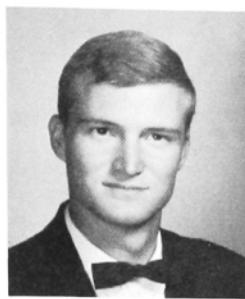

Theta Chis learn tolerance.

Freshmen Arrive Looking To The

"It's so dark in here I'll never find her brown shoes."

"Yes, I promise to write."

"Her house must be empty—I've carried it all!"

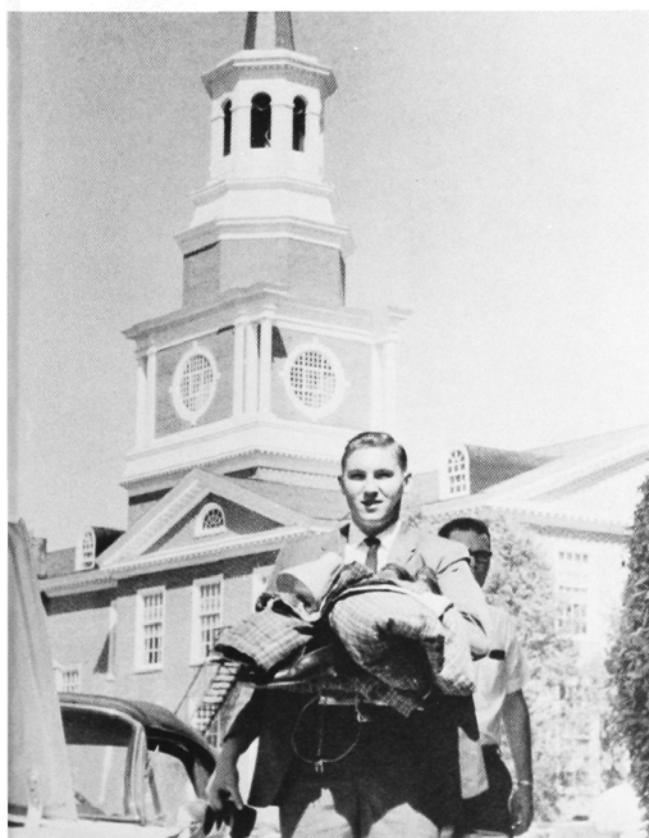

Future With Excitement

"You'd think the school could afford some chairs!"

The Rosenmarkle octet entertaining for free

"Wish I could find some girl to help me carry my clothes."

This group had 40% fewer cavities.

Registration Means Standing In Long Lines And Waiting

"Does anyone know what this line is for?"

"Yes, as a matter of fact it has been a long day."

"Hm, wonder what he's doing tonight."

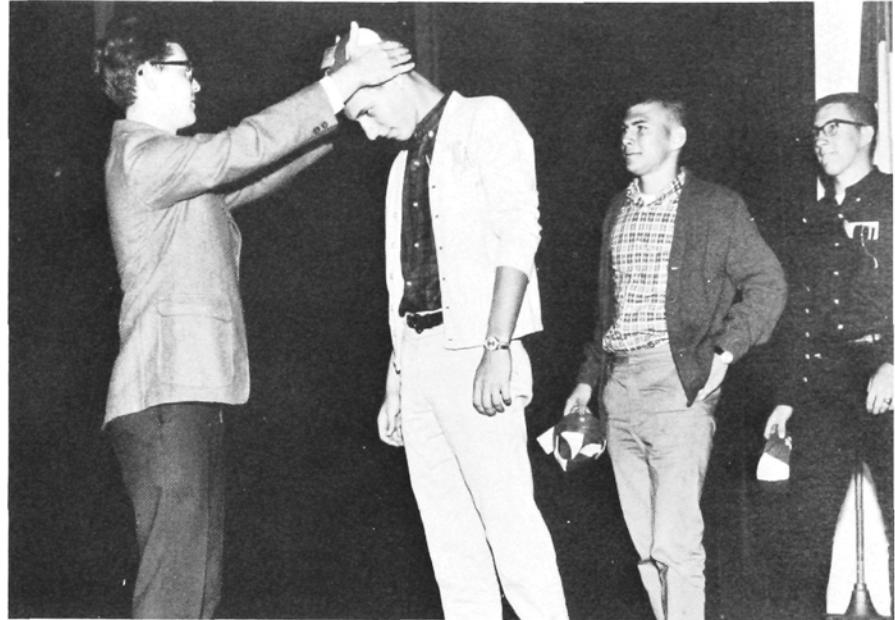

"There must be a better way."

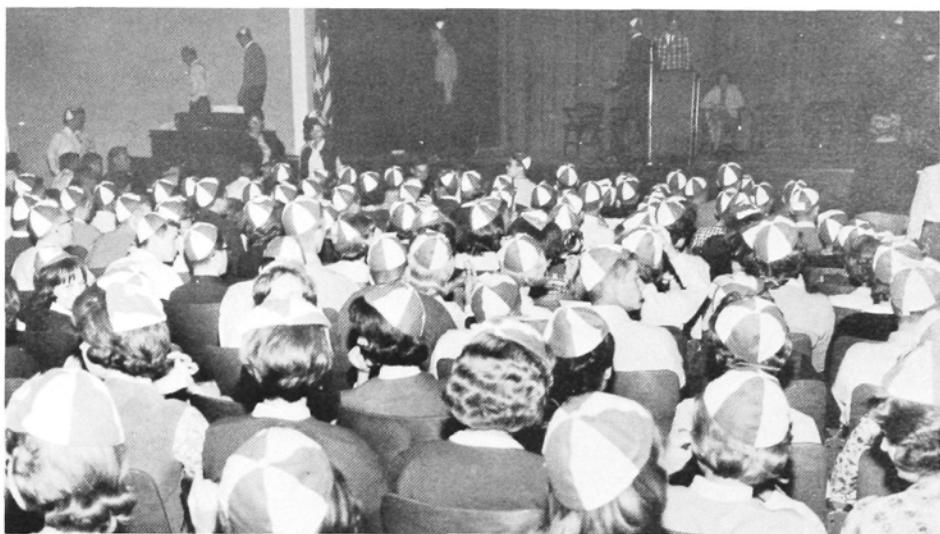

Beanies . . . Bondage And Liberation

"I'd rather ring his neck than shake his hand."

"I now crown you a Freshman."

These are beanies, color them purple and white.

These are Freshmen, color them mad.

"This rope will never break."

"I know I saw a shark!"

Parent-Freshman Day

"I wonder if he has an older brother."

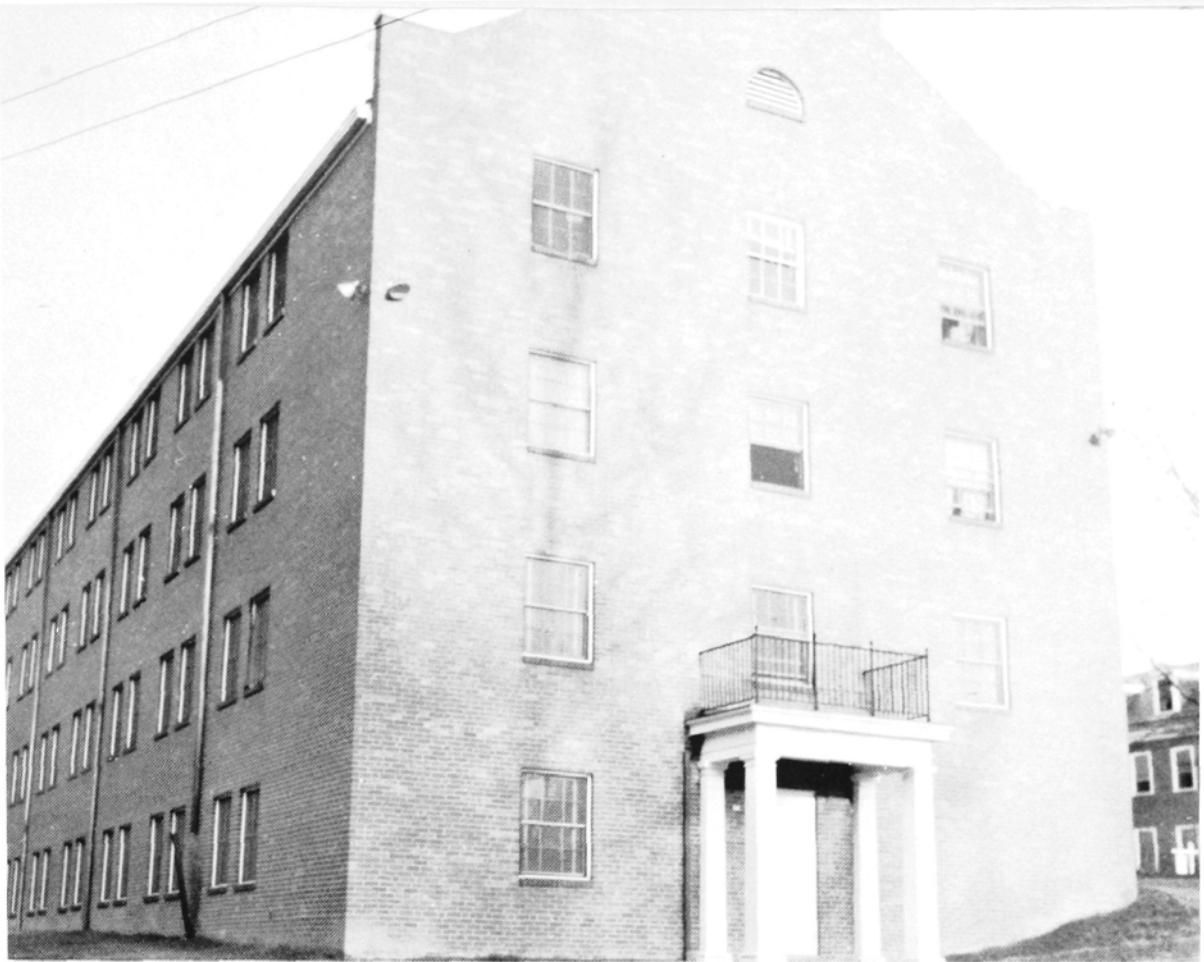

"And this is where the big upperclassmen live, mom."

"Joining the Army was easier than this."

"This isn't really my room—it isn't even my dorm."

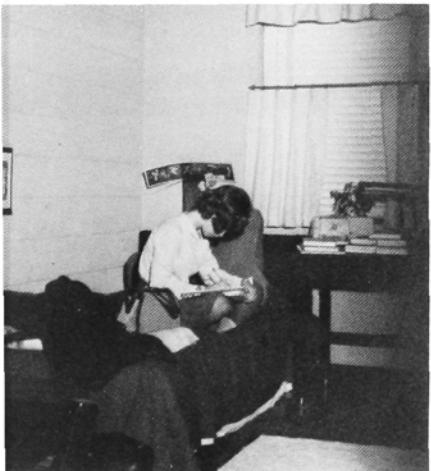

Women Welcome New Yadkin Hall

Yadkin Hall, the newest of our women's dormitories, is a welcome addition to the High Point College campus. The mad scramble for "a room in the new one" gives evidence of this fact. Several additions in this new dormitory, one of which is a kitchen, make life in the halls of HPC a little more like home.

The residents of Yadkin are proud of their new home and usually include this site as part of any campus tour. We hope that you'll find time to visit us too!

The Wright's Bucks

"Steak, and it's not even Sunday!"

"Easy with those potatoes—we want them mashed, not flattened!"

"Home was never like this."

"And we're out of Roast Beef again, too."

"If they'd all go on diets we could quit right now!"

and Bunnies

Strange though it may seem to some, the cafeteria is an integral part of the life of High Point College. Students must eat, and responsible for fulfilling this important need are Maw, Paw, and the Wright's bucks and bunnies. Behind the long lines which sometimes seem endless, there is constant activity to prepare the food which is served on the lines. Salad is being tossed, pies are being cut, and numerous meats are burning on the grill. The bucks and bunnies work together like clockwork in order to feed the "multitude" as fast as possible. The activity in the background is seldom noted until something goes wrong like the times the dishwasher broke, the day the ice cream melted, and the ten hours some of the crew put in when regular staff didn't make it because of snow.

"What did you say that is?"

"That chicken must have been cooked in wine!"

The patio club enjoys its modern open-air lounge.

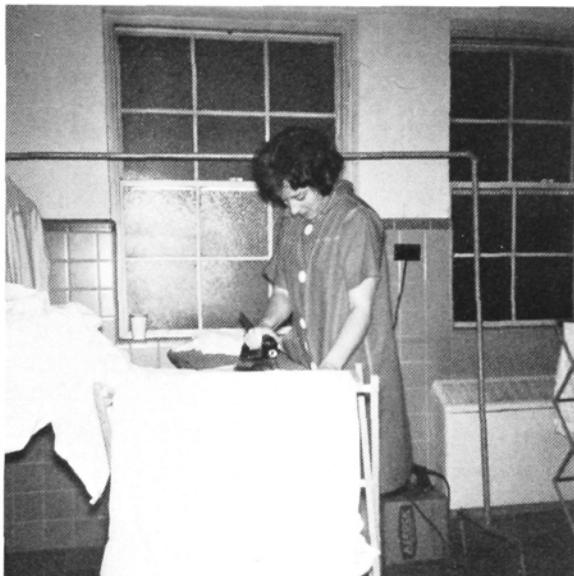

Life in the Women's Dorms

Phones are busy as usual.

"What course did you say you were making the sweater for?"

"Double, double, toil and trouble . . ."

Arthur Murray Studio?

The height of boredom: taking in mending!

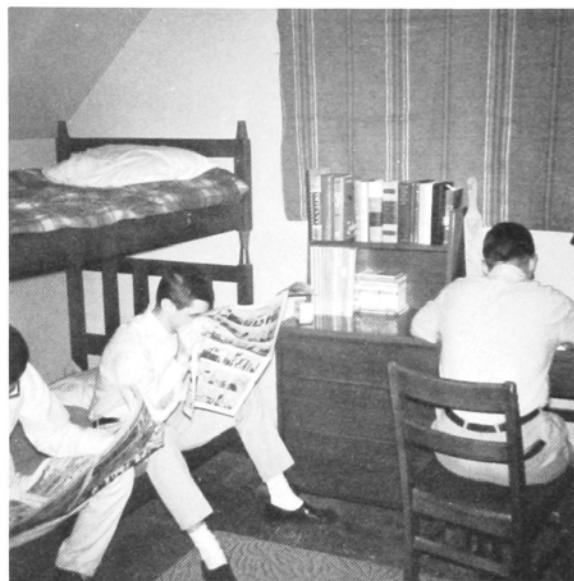

Studying can be fun—lesson one . . .

Life in the Men's Dorms

"Yes, operator, I'm still waiting . . ."

"Hey fellows, listen to this, 'Dear Ann Landers . . .'"

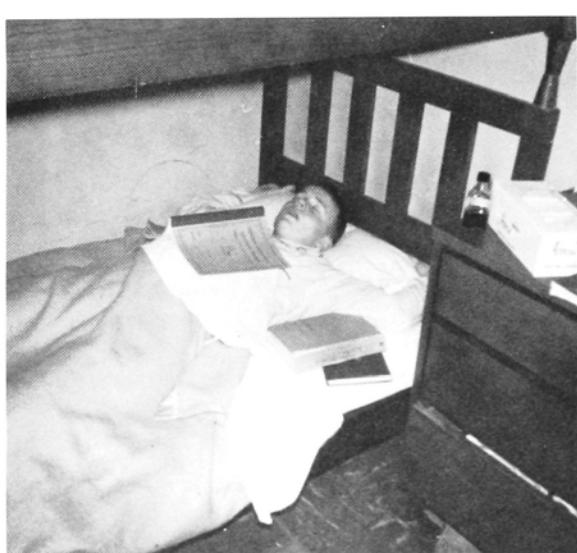

U.N.C.L.E. strikes again—

"Only 4,000 more Raleigh coupons and I get

"Ain't no way for you guys with this

"My mother sent it!"

"Final exams couldn't be any worse than trying to register!"

"But I haven't got room to take anything else."

"Has anyone seen my hamster?"

"They ran out of money!"

Guess who has a date tonight.

"Well, hello there!"

"Allow me."

Special Events

Governor John McKeithen

At a special assembly program held December 10, 1964, Governor John McKeithen of Louisiana returned to his Alma Mater at which time he received an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree. Accompanying Governor McKeithen was the Governor of North Carolina, Terry Sanford. After the convocation a news conference was held with the two governors in the band room of the Fine Arts building. When asked about his memories of High Point College, the visiting governor made the statement that he feels the college has made improvements in all areas since the two years when he was a student here.

Governor McKeithen was very hopeful that his state would soon be able to equal the educational status which North Carolina has attained. The governor was impressed by the number of small liberal arts colleges in North Carolina and expressed the hope that Louisiana would soon be able to supply the citizens of his state with more educational opportunities.

After the news conference Governor McKeithen, Governor Sanford, and their wives attended a special luncheon in their honor at the Sheraton Hotel. Dr. and Mrs. Wendell Patton hosted the affair. Members of the Board of Trustees and their wives were guests of the college.

"Tanka," "Bach," and "Charades." In addition to Classical Kabuki Theater Music, selections by Stravinsky, Bach, and Ibert were used, creating a most enjoyable program for all in attendance.

Clara Jane Neal Reigns Over

Homecoming Queen, C. J. Neal, is crowned in Alumni Gymnasium February 13, 1965.

Homecoming 1965, what was it—a maze of dances, parties, displays, ballgames, and swarms of alumni looking for parking places? We look back and remember how tired we were, but it didn't make any difference because of the good time we had.

It all began with the dance, a treat for students from the alumni, held Friday night. The Fabulous Five furnished the music in an atmosphere of dimmed lights and red and white streamers holding red hearts. Who can forget that the girls had 1:15 permission? The following morning saw many sleepy-headed Greeks carting their displays out to the lawn in front of McCullough Hall. It was the climax of many hours of hard work on projects that were more intricate than ever before. Alpha Gamma Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha were the two organizations that came out on top in the competition.

Saturday afternoon the alumni began to return to be welcomed by a luncheon and a reception. Students enjoyed a concert by the Shirelles sponsored by the SGA. A spirited Greek pep rally added to the day's activities. Of the competing groups, Alpha Gamma Delta and Theta Chi placed first in their respective divisions. Following the rally, students and alumni had the best meal of the year at the Homecoming Banquet held in Harrison Hall.

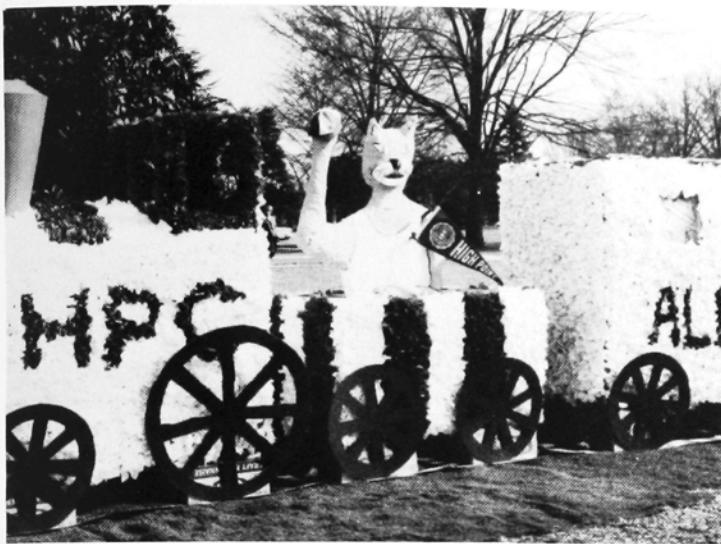

The big game was next on the agenda. A rousing alumni game preceded the contest between the Panthers and the Mountaineers of Appalachian State Teachers College, witnessed by a packed gymnasium. The Panthers, out for revenge, trounced the Mountaineers by twenty-one points. During half-time the Homecoming Queen, Miss C. J. Neal, and her court were presented to the spectators. A dance for alumni and students followed the game.

Yes, homecoming was a maze of frenzied activity; but, who can look back without remembering how much he enjoyed it?

Each fall as the cross country team takes to the field, another year of sports begins at High Point College. Topping this year's performance was the setting of a new school record for the four mile run. As the season closed, the Harriers finished with an almost even win-loss record.

As winter approaches, sports move indoors and basketball becomes the high light of the season. In Alumni Gymnasium, the cheers and yells for each point the Panthers score can be heard all over the campus. When the team travels away from its home court the fans remain glued to their radios, ready to ring the victory bell at the conclusion of the game.

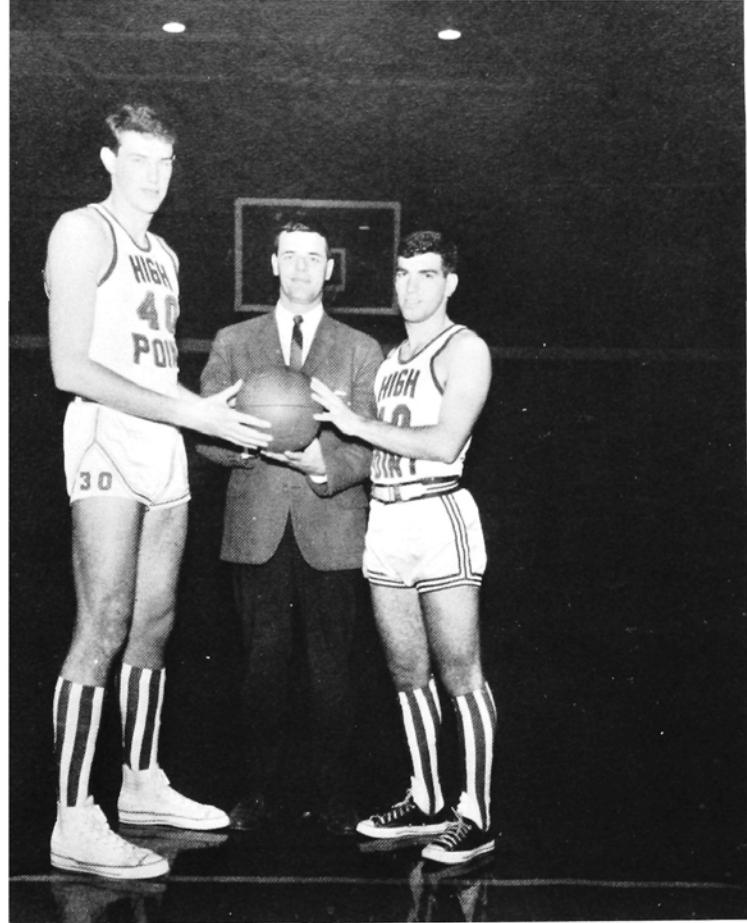

Heading the Panthers team this year are four seniors who have had a great deal of experience and who possess outstanding ability. As the season draws to a close, the Panthers have an almost spotless record. The outlook holds an excellent chance of becoming the District Champions for the second year in a row and of returning to Kansas City for another try at the number one position in the nation.

Spring is a welcome time of year and with it come track and baseball. It appears that the baseball team will be exceptionally strong this year with twelve lettermen returning from last year's team and a number of promising newcomers. Although the team finished third in the conference last year, it should be a definite contender for the number one position. The track team, like the baseball team, can look forward to a fine season with many outstanding lettermen returning.

A black and white photograph showing a church steeple rising above a cluster of trees. The steeple is white with a dark, conical roof. The trees in the foreground are bare, while those behind the steeple are more densely leafed. The sky is overcast.

The "Light of Life" for the year 1964-65 dims and is recorded in the history of High Point College. Even though this year in the life of the college is ending, there are many memories that will live on and help the life of High Point College to grow and expand even further. We have seen many advancements and improvements in our college and know of bigger and better programs in academics and building.

It is our sincere wish that this year has opened a new "life" for the ZENITH. The 1965 ZENITH has introduced two new sections, academics and student life, which we hope you, our readers, will enjoy and will help you to relive this year.

I would like to personally extend my thanks to my staff which has worked patiently and conscientiously with me to give you a better yearbook. A special "thank you" goes to Carol Pino and her copy staff for their diligent work to improve the academic level of the ZENITH. They have put much time and effort into their work, and, as you look through the yearbook, I ask that you read all the copy because I feel a great deal may be learned about the school.

A very special "thank you" goes to Dr. Sam J. Underwood, our advisor. Dr. Underwood has helped us in many ways, especially in helping us to make this yearbook truly a student publication. He has advised us and guided us when we needed help, but all decisions have been left to the students. In this way we have felt the trust and confidence that has been placed on us. Thank you, Dr. Underwood!

The staff has worked hard to give you a memorable record of our year on the campus of High Point College. We hope that this will be a yearbook which you will read, enjoy, and treasure.
